

FRINGE PATES BENEFIT FROM SLIDING SCALE

TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — Nick St. Angelo, a barber, has decided that it isn't fair for a man with a one-inch fringe of hair to pay the same price for a haircut as his long-haired fellows.

So St. Angelo has ranged the prices in his barber shop from $1 to $1.75—depending on the amount of hair he cuts.

A sign in his window reads: "Need a better haircut? Come in and get a written estimate."

Some of his fellow barbers have branded St. Angelo's conduct "unprofessional."

"What difference does it make how much a man has," says one. "To a skilled barber, every head is a challenge."

MAY LOSE JOBS

Strike Staged
By Teachers
In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A massive teachers' strike today crippled New York's giant school system.

It was the first such walkout in the city's history. Most of the 837 public schools managed to keep some sort of makeshift program going for students, but teaching staffs were decimated.

Placard-carrying teachers paced the sidewalks outside buildings as the city's 1,000,000 pupils converged on the schools.

Classes were reshuffled and doubled up. Clerks and supervisors were put into teaching harness. Calls went out for all substitutes available.

NUMEROUS DEMANDS

The striking United Federation of Teachers had demanded duty-free lunch periods for teachers, additional sick leave provisions, and salary adjustments for teachers with special training. The union does not have a contract with the school system.

The board of education had agreed in principle to two other demands, a dues check-off system and steps toward collective bargaining. The union claims it represents 10,000 of the city's 40,000 teachers.

In many cases, non-members refused to cross picket lines. Five teachers assigned to the board of education headquarters in Brooklyn were suspended after they refused to obey a directive to report for special duty to fill vacancies.

Education officials have said the striking teachers would lose their jobs and possibly their state teaching certificates. A state law prohibits work stoppages by public employees.

The UFT, affiliated with the AFL-CIO, is only one of 39 teacher organizations in the city and claims to represent 10,000 of the city's 40,000 teachers.

The union seeks higher pay, a union checkoff and a "promotional increment plan." Another major issue in the dispute is UFT's demand for collective bargaining rights.

The school board says the UFT represents only 4,000 teachers. Another group, the Teachers' Union, says the majority of teachers are not in the UFT and do not support the strike.

FINCH CASE HEADED FOR THIRD TRIAL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The jury in the second Finch murder trial said today it is unable to reach a verdict and was discharged—a replay of the wind-up of the first trial. A date of Jan. 3 was set for trial No. 3.

The foreman told the court that the jury believed one defendant to be guilty, but could not agree on the other. He did not say which defendant, Dr. Bernard Finch or his mistress, Carole Tregoff, was thought guilty.

They are charged with the July 18, 1959, slaying of the surgeon's wife.

Kennedy Clings to Lead
In Election Eve PollsGallup, Roper
Have It Close

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On the eve of the U.S. election, professional pollsters and independent surveys today gave Democratic Senator John F. Kennedy an edge in his contest for the presidency over Republican Vice-President Richard Nixon.

But mindful of the debacle of 1948 when Harry Truman upset the advance predictions, all were wary of coming out with a flat forecast of victory.

The samplings and surveys went all the way from a slight margin in the popular vote, up to a landslide in the electoral college vote, but usually with reservations about last-minute swings.

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, said his final survey on those likely to vote, based on interviews up to last Friday, gave:

Kennedy-Johnson ticket 49 per cent of popular vote; Nixon-Lodge 48 per cent; undecided three per cent.

However, on the basis of those who directly expressed preferences he gives Kennedy 51 per cent, Nixon 49 per cent. Gallup said his Oct. 20-26 sampling indicated that of those likely to cast a ballot Tuesday and showing a preference, 53 per cent picked Kennedy and 47 per cent Nixon.

This compared with a 50-50 split found in a similar check early in October. Gallup's sampling is based only on popular vote. The election itself is finally decided on the split in the electoral college votes of the 50 states, numbering 537 with 269 needed to win.

A very small change in popular vote percentages can mean a big swing in the electoral vote. Elmo Roper, the other big pollster, says neither candidate has a clear lead.

His latest figures, dated Oct. 24, gave Nixon 46 per cent, Kennedy 44.5 per cent and 9.5 per cent undecided.

But on further analysis of his undecided vote, he broke it down to 48.5 per cent for Kennedy, 47.5 per cent for Nixon and 4 per cent still undecided.

AP SURVEY

The Associated Press, in a survey which included its own observers, newspaper analysts, party leaders' claims and certain polls, finds that Kennedy is ahead in 15 states with 197 electoral votes—72 short of the needed total.

Nixon, says AP, is ahead in 17 states, but they have only 112 electoral votes, 85 behind Kennedy and 157 short of the minimum needed.

The AP lists 18 states as tossups, with their 228 electoral votes.

The AP says its survey shows a considerable gain for Kennedy over three weeks ago when its survey gave Nixon 19 states and 141 electoral votes to 14 and 129.

It also concedes its latest figures may not reflect President Eisenhower's last minute entry into the campaign.

ONTO LIMB

Some other surveys have gone much further onto a limb than these checks. Columbia Broadcasting System Sunday night summed it up as 365 electoral votes for Kennedy, 172 for Nixon, although again conceding that some on both sides could not be classed as definite.

The New York Times, pro-Democrat, predicts a landslide sweep for Kennedy with 415 out of the 537 votes.

A New York Times poll has Kennedy ahead in 19 states with a total of 244 electoral votes and Nixon leading in 16 states with 109 electoral votes.

RECORD VOTE
PREDICTED
FOR TUESDAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A record-breaking 65 to 68 million Americans may vote in the presidential election Tuesday.

The Republican National Committee estimated the vote at 67 million, or in the range of 65 to 68 million. The Democratic National Committee predicted the total vote may exceed 69 million.

These estimates would mean a vote three to seven million above the previous record set in 1956 when 62,027,040 ballots were counted.

President Eisenhower polled 35,581,003 votes, Adlai E. Stevenson, 26,831,332 and minor candidates 414,715.

Since 1956, Hawaii and Alaska have achieved statehood and become eligible to vote in presidential elections. Census Bureau estimates show the number of persons of voting age has increased to almost 197 million, a rise of more than four million since 1956.

GOP Groups
To Pay Shot
For Telethon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice-President Richard Nixon's four-hour television quiz marathon today will be paid for by five Republican committees, a Republican spokesman said today.

The five are the Republican National Committee, the Independent Television Committee for Nixon and Lodge, the National Republican Congressional Committee.

L. Richard Guylay, public relations director for the Republican national committee, said the television committee was established to conform with provisions of the Hatch Act, which limits expenditures in a political campaign.

LIMIT SET

Under law the Republican national committee is limited to a $3,000,000 campaign expenditure for radio and television programs, Guylay said.

Both parties set up independent television committees, he said, because they expected to spend more than $7,000,000 each on such programs.

Estimates of the costs of today's television marathon, originating in Detroit, vary from the national committee's $239,000 to the American Broadcasting Company's $200,000.

Earlier Sen. John F. Kennedy's news secretary Pierre Salinger said the five-and-a-half hours of election eve television time purchased for Vice-President Richard M. Nixon was costing the Republicans more than $500,000.

He demanded to know where the money was coming from.

Bomb Mailed
To Nixon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Postal authorities reported that a bomb was found today in a package addressed to Vice-President Richard M. Nixon. It was discovered in the San Diego post office.

Postmaster Earl Roberts and secret service officials were not available immediately for comment.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Thy mercy, O Lord, endureth forever. Let not our anxious fears cloud our vision of Thy goodness, nor let our sins overpower us. Forgive our abuse of Thy great gifts, and save us from our folly. For Thine is the Kingdom and power and the glory forever. Amen.

Candidates Have Final
TV Fling

By HAROLD MORRISON

NEW YORK (CP) — The toughest, costliest and most exhausting presidential fight in United States history draws to an end tonight.

Tuesday an estimated 65,000,000 or more voters make their choice between two travel-weary candidates determined to maintain their killing grind to the last minute.

In a whirlwind finish, Republican Richard Nixon concentrated on television. He made a record four-hour afternoon question-and-answer television appearance, to be followed by a 90-minute evening TV performance.

Democrat Senator John Kennedy went on the air to reply to his opponent's four-hour television program.

Kennedy appeared on the American Broadcasting Company's television network immediately following the close of Vice-President Nixon's broadcast from Detroit.

Kennedy's program originated in Manchester, N.H., and was a supplement to his major television address from Boston.

PLEDGES APLENTY

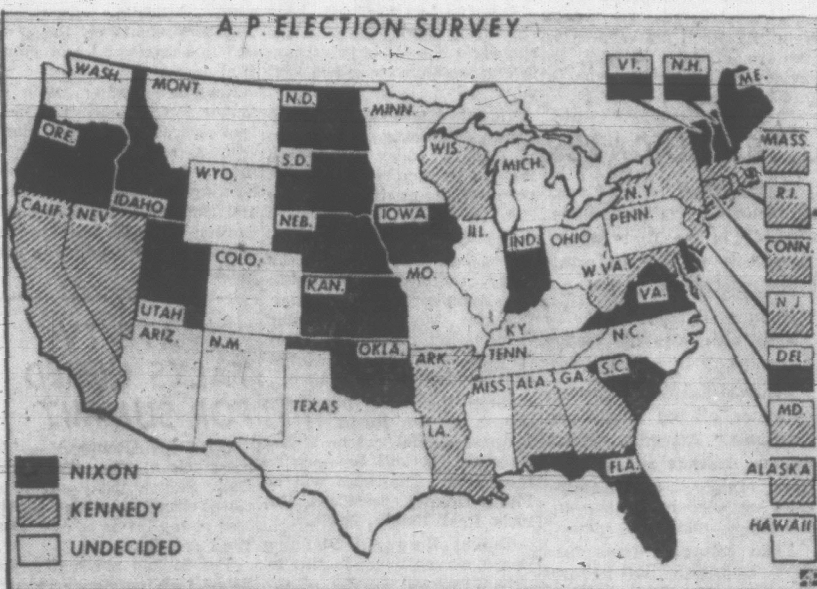

Both candidates tried to give their campaigns a lift with last-minute pledges. Kennedy proposed a big batch of federal scholarships for needy and worthy university students.

Nixon outlined a plan whereby President Eisenhower would be joined by former presidents Truman and Hoover on a good-will peace crusade through East European Iron Curtain countries.

Truman, 76, completing his campaign in support of Kennedy, said Nixon's plan is seven years too late. Truman said he planned a lecture tour next year and wouldn't be available. Eisenhower is 70 and Republican Hoover, 66.

Both sides exuded confidence of victory. Nixon, campaigning in and around Los Angeles and then in Anchorage, Alaska, said he saw a great tide sweeping his way. Kennedy, in New York and New England states, said it was the kind of tide that would sweep Nixon into the Pacific Ocean.

3 Million to Strike?

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentina's three major labor federations called their 3,000,000 members out today on a general strike. Troops and police were alerted for possible trouble.

NEW YORK (AP) — A dynamite bomb exploded with a thunderous, shattering roar aboard a subway train deep under Harlem Sunday night, killing a young girl and injuring 18 other people.

Police did not confirm nor deny that it was the work of New York's "Sunday Bomber," who has been blamed for four other explosions since Oct. 2.

The bomb had been hidden under a straw-covered seat at the rear of the fifth car of a six-car express train. The train was halted at the 125th street station in the heart of Harlem-Manhattan's main Negro district when the bomb exploded.

The force of the blast bulged out the steel sides of the car, gouged a two-foot hole in the floor and shattered every window but one. Big chunks of concrete were ripped from the underside of the station platform.

About 30 passengers were aboard the fatal car. A girl sitting directly over the bomb was killed. Two youths sitting across the aisle from the girl were injured critically.

The girl was identified as Sandra Breland, 15, of Brooklyn. Her handbag was blown to bits.

CORDON ACROSS TRACKS

Cordell Jones, 18, was just boarding the train when the bomb exploded. He was blown across the platform and onto another set of tracks. He suffered head, neck and back injuries.

"It looked like the seats blew into the room," he said. "Just as I was getting on, I turned around to look at two boys who were laughing about something. Except for that, I would have got it right in the face."

John Cohn, 39, the motorist, said: "I ran out on the platform. I saw the smoke and people running out of the train. The platform was crowded. There were several persons lying there moaning and bleeding."

Police searching the wreckage found a detonating cap, which they said confirmed that the explosive probably was dynamite.

A few hours before the Harlem explosion, a crude flare, concealed in a hollowed-out book, was ignited in a movie theatre off Times Square. But it was stomped out by a patron before it had a chance to explode.

WHO TO SEE
HASSLE ENDS
IN STABBING

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's detectives say a woman fatally stabbed her husband Saturday night in a dispute over which to watch on television: Senator John Kennedy or Lawrence Welk.

Investigators gave this account: Victor Rojas, 44, a Democrat, wanted to watch his party's presidential nominee, Mrs. Norma Jean Rojas, 34, a Republican, wanted to watch Welk's musical program.

In the heat of the argument she grabbed a paring knife and stabbed Rojas in the chest. He was dead when police arrived.

Early Poll Results Hit

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The leaders of both political parties in Oregon are protesting radio and television network plans to interpret the presidential contest Tuesday on grounds it will have an unnatural affect on voting in the west.

Both Republican state chairman Peter Gunnar and Democratic state chairman Robert Straub said they fear early forecasts from eastern voting results could cause western voters to jump on the predicted winner's bandwagon or fail to vote because they felt the outcome had already been determined.

Gunnar said only about one-half of the western voters will have gone to the polls by late afternoon when the networks have said they will try to forecast the outcome of the presidential race.

He added that such broadcasts would in effect mean the disenfranchisement of the 13 western states.

A free-lance inventor, man of science, holder of many degrees—but when a nut needs a new washer he's just a quivering mass of butterfingers.

This is the character introduced to Times readers today on the comic page, the central figure in one of the most popular of the new strips.

Making laughs along with him are Sugar Phumble, his ever-loving wife, Cuddles, who is a dog but doesn't know it, and Sam Handy the handy man who often brings the Prof. down to earth.

CHESTERFIELD, England — Jobless for more than three years, 34-year-old Jack Cooper said today he has a wife and seven children and just can't afford to work.

"All the neighbors think Jack should work but they just don't understand," his wife said.

Cooper said he gets just under £11 a week from unemployment benefits and national assistance plus three free pints of milk a day.

Authorities said Cooper last worked as an attendant in coal pits in May, 1957, and took home £9 10s a week.

"It isn't worth my while to work," said Cooper. "The National Assistance Board keeps badgering me to get a job, but I have my duty to my family."

"Besides, I'm quite happy as things are."

Nixon's Sunday trip to Alaska completes his pledge to campaign in all 50 states.

Kennedy has campaigned in 44 states, all but Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, North Dakota, Nevada and Hawaii. Criss-crossing the country, each travelled more than 40,000 miles, mostly by plane.

Total campaign costs may never be known. But political observers say total national Republican-Democratic outlays may be in the vicinity of $100,000,000 to $150,000,000.

'CALL TO VICTORY'

Nixon broadcast from Detroit over the American Broadcasting Company network in his TV show. A telephone number was flashed on the screen. Listeners were able to call collect and pose questions which Nixon had said he would be willing to answer. The network offered equal time to the Democrats but they turned down the offer saying they didn't have the money.

Meanwhile, Kennedy was to pick up a telephone at 6 p.m. (EST) at Boston and call a 74-year-old widow in San Francisco. This will launch what the Democrats describe as a round-the-clock "call to victory"—to place about 1,000,000 telephone calls among voters between 6 p.m. tonight and 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Funeral will be held in McCall's chapel Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. for James Alexander Boyd, former manager for Imperial Oil at Edmonton, Winnipeg and St. John's, N.B.

He died Saturday at his home, 1438 Newport, aged 83. Born in Belfast, Ireland, he had lived in Victoria 24 years. He was a Mason and a member of Metropolitan United Church.

Survivors include the widow, Elizabeth, at home, three sisters and two brothers.

GAS BLAST FEARED

200 Flee in Panic As Car Sparks Fire

LONDON (AP)—Gerald Kaye pushed his car's starter button Sunday night—and sparked a blaze that sent 200 people scuttling from their homes.

Kaye's small car had stalled over a manhole in the road. When he pushed the starter to get it going again a spark from the engine set fire to gas seeping from a broken main. The manhole cover blew off and the car burst into flames. Kaye scrambled clear and telephoned the fire brigade. When firemen arrived they poured hundreds of gallons of water on the blazing automobile. But still it burned. It wasn't until they managed to tow it from the middle of the road that they discovered the real seat of the fire was the gas.

"There could be a terrible explosion," warned a gas company official.

With that, 200 people from nearby apartment blocks rushed out of their homes. Gas men worked for nine hours before the leak was found and firemen were able to douse the flames.

More Federal Aid Sought For University Expansion

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Universities Foundation asked the government today to increase sharply its grants for higher education.

In a brief presented to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the foundation asked the government to raise its per capita grant to $2.50 by the 1962-63 academic year, from the $1.50 established for the 1958-59 school year.

It also asked for additional grants of $500 for each full-time graduate student going on to take a master of arts, doctor of philosophy, or equivalent degree. Each full-time student in medicine or dentistry should also win his university a similar extra grant.

The foundation said more money is needed to assure continued construction of university facilities, and asked for grants amounting to $16,000,000 annually to be administered by the National Research Council for the science faculties, and the Canada Council for the humanities.

To meet the rising needs of student residences, the foundation asked the government to make building loans available through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, for terms of 30 years and at interest rates no higher than the government must pay for its long-term borrowings.

The brief was presented by Very Rev. Henri F. Legare, rector of the University of Ottawa and chairman of the foundation. He said federal assistance must not be used to cloak any federal trespass upon the provincial domain over education.

The foundation estimated that by 1967, the number of students in Canadian universities will rise to 186,500—70 per cent more than this year.

Russian Rockets Shown Off

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today showed off a dozen "silver needle" rockets and said they were the type that brought down Francis Gary Powers' American U-2 plane May 1.

The rockets were the highlight of an eight-minute parade of military might through Red Square in celebration of the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Watching from atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb were Soviet Premier Khrushchev and many of the leaders of world communism, including Chinese President Liu Shao-chi.

Before the march past the tomb, Defence Minister Rodion Malinovsky in the chief speech of the day said the Soviet army and navy, "so far as technical equipment and armament is concerned, are on the most modern level of science and technique."

10,000 CHEER

His words were cheered by a crowd of about 10,000 in the square. Many millions more watched on television or heard the radio broadcast of the celebration.

The rockets the Russians said brought down the American spy plane over Sverdlovsk were plump and red-tipped, or silver-colored metal about 10 feet long. They were carried aboard trucks.

Also in the military demonstration were "katusha" anti-personnel rockets, four medium-sized rockets mounted on tanks and eight 25-foot rockets carried on trailers. The latter were first shown publicly at last year's anniversary parade.

"We do not want to attack anybody," Malinovsky declared.

"But should our peaceful soil be violated by the imperialists, they will receive a retaliatory blow from which they will never recover."

"UNTIRING FIGHTER"

The marshal paid tribute to Khrushchev as "that untiring fighter for peace."

Khrushchev as usual occupied the central place of honor in the reviewing stand on top of the tomb. Liu was on his left and, surprisingly, the retired president, Klementi Y. Voroshilov, was at Khrushchev's right.

Following the military parade, well-organized civilian demonstrators started pouring through Red Square by the hundreds of thousands, carrying portraits of Soviet leaders, colorful banners and artificial flowers and releasing balloons.

An icy drizzle fell from leaden skies.

The three-day anniversary celebration will lead up to a summit meeting of the Communist leaders Wednesday.

Frol R. Kozlov, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party's central committee, set the tone for the talks with a keynote speech Sunday night, declaring:

"World war can be excluded from the life of human society."

Mao Tse-tung led the signers of a message of greetings to Khrushchev heralding the Soviet Union as leader of the Communist world.

LIBERALS DO SWITCH FOR PEARSON

British Columbia's Liberals have changed the date of their annual convention to coincide with a visit from national leader Lester B. Pearson, on November 25.

Mr. Pearson will spend a week in the province.

His engagements will include a visit to Victoria, and probably a speech in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal constituency. He will visit the University of British Columbia campus and also address the Liberal convention, November 25.

The convention was planned for November 12.

A number of Liberals from Vancouver Island will attend sessions at the West Vancouver Community Club.

Organization will be the major topic, say party officials. Strategy for the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election and the next federal election will be discussed.

The British Columbia executive council of the party will meet immediately after the convention.

NO DISCOURTESY MEANT

Labor Wasn't Rude

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) says it meant no discourtesy to Liberal leader Ray Perrault when it did not invite him to speak at the federation's recent convention.

"Had there been any demand on the part of delegates to hear Mr. Perrault, he would have been given the platform," said Frank McLaughlin, assistant federation secretary-treasurer Sunday in a statement.

He was commenting on a complaint by Mr. Perrault that he was refused the opportunity to address the delegates.

Mr. McLaughlin said no political leaders were invited to speak and the only politicians who did speak were accredited delegates to the convention.

NEW VETERANS MINISTER PAYS HOMAGE AT VIMY

VIMY, France (AP)—Veterans Minister Gordon Churchill Sunday paid homage to the 120,000 Canadian soldiers killed during both world wars. Accompanied by several officials and heads of French and allied war veterans' associations, Churchill placed a wreath before the Vimy monument honoring the 30,000 Canadians killed in the Artois region during the First World War.

Short Hop, High Cost

TRANS-CANADA AIR LINES states that it costs $12 to carry a passenger one-way between Victoria and Vancouver—a statement that came one day too late to cushion the shock of a proposed 40 per cent increase in fares for that flight.

This appears to be the essential figure supporting the increase—and might well be studied by competent accountants here concerned with the higher charge and its effect on Victoria-Vancouver air travelers. Their assessment of expense factors involved might not coincide with that of TCA.

As a result of its cost analysis the company proposes to increase the one-way fare from $5 to $7, which, it points out, is still well below the per passenger expense of operating the service.

The economics of air travel with modern equipment are such that cost per mile falls after a certain distance has been flown without stops. The reduction, according to the company's analysis, begins to be effective on flights longer than 400 miles.

This is the explanation offered to justify the suggested changes which will make it more expensive to fly from Victoria to Vancouver, but less expensive to fly from Victoria to points east of Winnipeg.

The case presented by Trans-Canada for a reduction in fares for long flights is impressive and convincing. By lowering them, the company expects to attract considerably more passengers, both Canadian and American. Though the margin of profit on each passenger will be less, the volume will make the over-all net returns greater.

This seems, on the surface, to be diametrically opposite to the reasoning applied to the Victoria-Vancouver service. On the short runs fares would be increased. In consequence the company could expect less business. But the paradox is not as real as that reasoning indicates.

TCA argues that it makes no profit on the Victoria-Vancouver passengers when all the costs attributable to this part of the service are considered. Instead it suffers a loss. Hence, by the company's reasoning, if fewer passengers are carried and each, individually, pays more, the loss will be cut—and by curtailing the number of flights, even though it uses Viscounts which are more expensive to run than DC 3s, further economies can be effected.

This is an over-simplification of the case. Matters of maintenance, staff and airport facilities are also involved.

Victorians may reasonably ask why the principle of greater volume invited by lower fares cannot apply to the short-haul just as it does to the long flights. TCA replies that to make volume cover costs and justify low fares between Victoria and Vancouver, the company would have to be assured of a much greater passenger business than it can foresee at present and would have to acquire more aircraft at heavy expense.

The simple, unhappy fact of the matter is that modern air transport, specializing in big jets, is not economically geared for short hops such as the Victoria-Vancouver flight.

In time equipment will be acquired which makes the short haul economically attractive—possibly through the use of improved helicopters. When they can be employed to provide inexpensive transportation between Victoria and Vancouver is a question which will be settled eventually by the volume of inter-city traffic and the purchase, operating and maintenance costs for suitable carriers.

In the meantime, as long as this community preserves its very high appreciation of Trans-Canada Air Lines service, it will apparently have to reconcile itself to the mixed blessing of cheaper flights to points further east than Winnipeg and higher charges between Victoria and Vancouver. What ancillary benefits Victoria receives from excursion fares from and to points inside Canada, will not, of course, be overlooked.

On Second Thought

THE SOUND AND FURY OF Mr. Khrushchev's addresses before the United Nations General Assembly a short time ago appear to have been nothing more than that. In a quiet move last week, the Soviet Union postponed for at least a year any action on demands to change the UN secretariat and cut down on the annual budget.

Mr. Khrushchev's attacks had centred on Secretary-General Hammarskjöld, whom he sought to replace with a three-man secretariat representing East, West and neutral powers. He wanted it done quickly and there were threats that Russia wouldn't co-operate if the demands were not carried out.

Now the Soviet Union says it will be content to leave the matter in the hands of a UN committee—which will not be making a report until late next year.

The support from the Afro-Asian countries which Mr. Khrushchev obviously expected, did not materialize. The new and neutral members observed the Soviet leader's exhibition in the Assembly—the accusations, the shouts, the boasts and the desk pounding—and decided that this was not for them.

On the diplomatic plane in which such manoeuvres are assessed, Mr. Khrushchev appears to have suffered a severe reversal, if not a definite defeat. He has gauged the effect of his display, and found it far short of requirements. When only your own side cheers you, you aren't being very persuasive.

Dream of Citizenship

MRS. ETHEL BRANT MONTURE, great-granddaughter of Chief Joseph Brant, has served Indians well in her frank discussion of their problems in Vancouver.

The descendant of the famous Six Nations' chief said that her dream for the Indian people is to have everyone in Canada become just a Canadian citizen.

"If you young people don't take your places as full Canadian citizens within your own lifetime, it will be your own fault," she added, reminding them that many of the prejudices Indians felt were shown to them existed only in their own minds.

This is blunt talk. It could be acceptable to Indians only from a person of their own blood—a person, also, distinguished as an authority on Indian culture and history and a proponent of leadership by Indians in their own communities. She sees the natives neither as the cruel fiends of one type of fiction nor as the noble redmen of another. To her they are people.

What Mrs. Monture is telling her fellows is that they should recognize the age in which they live, take advantage of the opportunities before them, and stand on their own feet.

Such an attitude does not discount the fact that Indians are subjected to certain discriminations, both in law and in our society. At least the legal discriminations can be removed by any natives who choose to become enfranchised. But once they take that step, they cease to enjoy the benefits of being Indians.

Mrs. Monture apparently thinks such privileges as they receive are poor compensation. Her dream is to see them full Canadian citizens—a dream which countless friends of Indians share, and which white-skinned Canadians could do much to make real.

Gone With the Wind of Change

IT SOMETIMES SEEMS THAT more effort is expended in substantiating a footnote to history than in verifying some of the main facts. An example is the 40-year struggle of Mrs. Anna Anderson, who lives in a hut in Germany's Black Forest, to prove her identity as Anastasia, grand duchess of Russia.

Mrs. Anderson claims she was carried, badly wounded, from the cellar where the Czar and the rest of her family were wiped out by Bolshevik rifles. Her assertion is disputed by others, but now has received considerable support from a hand-writing expert who says there is "no doubt" that Mrs. Anderson's claim is authentic.

While of pressing importance to the person involved, of course, there could be few aspects of the Russian revolution less likely to affect the course of history.

Anastasia, if indeed it is she, is a shadow of the past, a whisper of something that existed once but now has so completely ceased to exist that it is almost as though it had never been. The hut in the Black Forest may house memories and tragedy—but little else.

THE SIXTY MILLION MOTIVES

After the Test of Candidates Comes the Voters' Test

By B. A. TOBIN

NO one who has read accounts of the campaigns waged by the two U.S. presidential candidates could fail to be impressed by the terrible physical ordeal which the modern election appeal has become. Television has enabled a man to appear before millions at a time, to speak his piece. But air travel has made it possible—and hence, through the compulsion of competition, necessary—to meet many of those millions of voters face to face. The result is a test of physical, mental and emotional stamina that few humans could pass successfully. In its way it is as important a test of presidential fitness as any of the others.

Tobin

Correspondents' accounts tell of the weeks that have gone by with the candidate getting five or six hours sleep a night at the very best, and often only two or three. He snatches meals on the run or skips them entirely, since motorcades and other demonstrations usually run behind schedule. He must make speeches without respite, expected or unexpected, and he must never say the wrong thing. He must remember thousands of names and faces, never miff an opportunity to compliment some local politico, survive heckling or mean interview questions without a quiver, smile almost perpetually, shake hands unendingly, never look tired or frustrated, but appear competent and riding the crest at every hour of the day or night.

This seems to have been typical of both Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon, and the correspondents agree that both have come through this phase of the campaign with remarkable success.

This is the sort of thing, they say, that separates the men from the boys. It's one of the toughest physical tests possible, and it ensures that the eventual winner must be a man of high qualities.

The physical ordeal imposes its own test of character. If a man has weaknesses of morals or temperament they should show up under such gruelling punishment. Making right decisions and exercising good judgment under heavy stress for campaign purposes is merely a foretaste of what the president will have to do for national purposes.

The lives of millions may rest upon the decision of an American president in the years to come. He cannot be a man who "blows" under stress, or one who panics in a crisis.

The ordeal of the campaign, then, is a necessary preliminary testing of presidential adequacy. But it is also a needed process in preparing the electorate.

In a country as widespread and diverse as the United States, the process of coming to a group decision must necessarily be a prolonged and complicated one. The solidification of public opinion must proceed slowly, and repeated exposure to the rival candidates and their opinions is required.

Many voters, of course, have their minds made up from the start. But the great mass of "undecideds" who in the final analysis determine the outcome of most elections, needs time to arrive at an opinion.

In earlier days it was a simpler matter. There was not the diversity of population and interests, there were not the massive blocks of opinion to reach and sway. And a candidate had time between speeches to pull himself together. Today he may have to make six major appearances in a single day—apart from many speeches to smaller groups—and cover the continent while doing it.

Tomorrow's voting in the United States is one of the wonders of the political world. Some 60 million human brains have considered their choices, and motivated by 60 million private beliefs, needs, cynicisms, faiths, altruisms, self-seeking, patriotism, prejudices, admirations, hatreds, loyalties, prides, humilities, hopes, fears, have made their decisions. Out of this welter of conflicting impulses, by some strange mass chemistry, is produced a majority choice which usually turns out to be the best that could have been made.

Complicated and cumbersome as it is, democracy does a better job than any other system yet devised. It may be further perfected, but it cannot be overthrown without loss to mankind, both individually and in the mass.

Beneath all the ballyhoo and nonsense that may accompany the process, there is an inner germ of truth and reality that gives stature and nobility to the whole concept. With all its faults, with all its shortcomings, think what the world would be like today if the United States did not subscribe to this democratic process.

Americans tomorrow will be voting for much more than a president and government officials. They will be voting to maintain democracy itself—no little responsibility for any people.

SPECTACLE OF AN EMBATTLED PRESIDENT

Eleventh Hour of the Last Campaign for Mr. Eisenhower

NEW YORK—Judged by noise and enthusiasm, the big Republican rally in New York for Mr. Nixon was a success, but it is doubtful whether it should be pronounced an equal political triumph.

There surely can be nothing to cause surprise in a tremendous welcome to Mr. Eisenhower in this city. Mr. Kennedy has conceded that Mr. Eisenhower would be elected for a third term if he were the Republican candidate in this election. As he never wearies of saying, he is running not against Mr. Eisenhower but against Mr. Nixon.

This week will be the last chance the American people will have in any election campaign to pay tribute to Mr. Eisenhower as an active campaigner personally identified with the Republican candidate and with the central issues.

Even if he should campaign in 1964 it would be only in a nominal sense. The record of his own administration will no longer be at stake. Is it any wonder then that Mr. Eisenhower has thrown himself into this contest with a vigor he has never shown even when he himself was the candidate?

For Mr. Kennedy himself he has developed a personal aversion that he makes no attempt to hide. His eyes narrow with contempt and anger as he pours ridicule on Mr. Kennedy's statements, and his voice takes on the rough edge of sardonic criticism once reserved for the unfortunate Senator Symington.

The American people obviously like the spectacle of an embattled president and they have turned out in huge numbers to see him in action and to honor him as his administration draws to its close. All this, however, is very different indeed from meaning votes for Mr. Nixon.

Throughout a long day, in the city and the suburbs, Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge drew consistently large crowds as they were accompanied by President Eisenhower and Governor Rockefeller.

In some areas the tributes were as unrestrained as those given Mr. Kennedy during his tours of the city. Even the most casual observer, however, could notice that the loudest cheers came for Mr. Eisenhower.

At the rally on Wednesday night Mr. Eisenhower virtually said that he would not feel safe about the destiny of the United States or of the free world if Mr. Kennedy sat in his place in the White House and had to make the great decisions. His severest scorn for Mr. Kennedy came when he accused the Democratic candidate of lacking faith in America.

The partisan audience, with hundreds of paid workers whipping up the cheers, responded fervently to this charge; and they would have cheered even without the official manufacturers of enthusiasm.

But if any calm-minded and comparatively neutral citizen blundered into the hall by accident he probably was as shocked and mystified by this accusation as by Mr. Eisenhower's even stranger suggestion that the Truman administration must accept responsibility for the Korean war.

One has grown accustomed to hearing Republican leaders accuse the Democrats of being unable to keep the peace but one thought Mr. Eisenhower, even in the strident excitement of a campaign, would be able to rise above this melodramatic absurdity.

New York state will cast 45 votes in the election. After all the fury and excitement had faded into the quiet night, the Democratic party issued a statement saying that the state would remain safely in the Kennedy column on election night.

The Republicans promised to use the latest momentum as the beginning of a sustained campaign to bring apathetic Republicans to the polls and to reverse the current now apparently sweeping Mr. Kennedy to victory.

At the other end of the continent is California with its 32 votes, and with some 45 per cent of all the registered voters living in the sprawling area of Los Angeles county. This is the disputed area in the state, for Mr. Kennedy believes he has a clear advantage outside Los Angeles.

He will owe a debt to Mr. Stevenson if he should carry California for the former leader has worked with valiant diligence in overcoming a lingering resentment against Mr. Kennedy.

As for Mr. Nixon, who comes from California, he contents himself with the statement that he has never lost an election in his native state and he has no intention of breaking that tradition now.

On all sides, even among devoted Republicans, it now is agreed that Mr. Nixon can win only if the size of the anti-Catholic vote has been grossly underestimated by observers.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Memory of a Teacher

In the November 1 issue of your valuable paper I note a letter in "Opinion of Correspondents" section captioned, "Beyond the Wage Issue," signed by a Victorian teacher, and I would like to take off my hat, metaphorically speaking, for it made my thoughts turn to the 18th Chapter of Genesis and the experience Abraham had in trying to divert the catastrophe from the cities Sodom and Gomorrah.

My mind goes back to a Yorkton, Sask., lady teacher, who was honored by the OBE decoration being conferred on her in 1937 at the time of King George VI coronation—her name, Miss Fox.

She was not the exception either, for their name must be legion, and all honor to them, for thoughts of their own aggrandisement took second place to their duties to their students.

Again I say a big thank, you, H. WYER.

No Regulatory Body

In reference to those "greedy, avaricious teachers" who play such a useful role in the manufacture of potential labor power, we are reminded of other individuals of this province, numbering several thousand, who don't work for a living at all (permanently unemployed) and whose incomes are usually far above that of any teacher.

They are members of that parasitic section of society known as the owning and controlling class. There doesn't seem to be any public regulatory body influencing their incomes.

Island Enterprise

The report in the issue of Saturday, Oct. 29, that a group of German businessmen have bought Moresby Island for nearly $200,000, appears to be good news at first sight. Your subsequent statement that it will become an agricultural development seems improbable.

Had our highly productive and destructive sense of propaganda of First World War days not deserted us, we might have concluded that the Germans will make use of the island to manufacture missiles and moon rockets there to be given away at the rate of one rocket with every Volkswagen.

Local reporters were remiss in not taking advantage of the presence of these Germans to attempt to find out from them by what system of economics or black magic the Federal Republic of Germany is not only able to keep its own people fully employed, with the millions of refugees from behind the Iron Curtain, but according to latest statistics there are nearly 300,000 foreign workers, Italians, Spaniards, Hollanders, Greeks and Austrians employed in German industries.

Considering the unemployed situation in Canada at this time, there might be some merit in comparing notes with German industrialists relating to the problem of a balanced all-year-round employment policy. Even if it leads to the old adage: If you cannot beat them, join them.

Refuting Charges

As you know, there have been several charges made concerning the Community Chest campaign and while your paper has given excellent coverage to refute them, we appreciate an opportunity to answer them officially.

Most of the stories concerning excessive salaries to Community Chest personnel and payment to volunteer workers are largely based on misinformation rather than malicious fabrication.

Briefly, the permanent staff of the Chest is underpaid by any standards and the operation of the office is efficient and economical. Needless to say, no volunteer, including campaign chairmen receive any financial restitution for their considerable expenditure of time and to some extent their own money.

Some local businesses, one in particular, refused a canvass of its employees on the grounds that the canvassers, in this case the Canadian Life Underwriters, are paid a percentage of what they collect.

Purely apart from the fact that this scandalous charge is baseless, it is a slur on the public-spirited donation of time and effort by the CLU's who give time during working hours to Chest activities. The Canadian Life Underwriters, of necessity, forego income during such efforts.

Any person who donates a minimum of one dollar is a member of the Community Chest. All are encouraged to attend meetings, elect directors and take an active interest in the formation of policy. This campaign belongs to the people of Victoria and any attacks on its operation are of vital interest to your readers. They are urged to immediately contact the Community Chest office, EV 5-6708 or any member agency. In this way the public can be kept informed.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Consult Allergist Before Moving

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Every week I get letters saying: "I have chronic bronchitis, or asthma, or hay fever, or emphysema (dilated lungs) or bronchiectasis (dilated and often infected air tubes) should I throw up my job, sell my house, and move to some southern state? My answer is "Do not do this in a hurry." Moving companies tell me that they move many people south and, after a while, have to move them back again. I just saw a woman who moved to a southwestern state where her asthma was so much better that she gave up her job and moved her furniture. But then came April with one awful dust storm after another, and she got so upset and nervous and distressed that she went back up north.

Alvarez

Often the allergic and perhaps asthmatic person ought to get a consultation with a good allergist to see if the doctor thinks that life in the southwest or southeast or the west will give him health. To illustrate: some wheezy persons who go to a desert region in search of health get into trouble because they are very sensitive to sage brush, and sage brush is all around them. Some persons cannot stand the great dryness of the desert air and other people cannot stand the strong sunlight and the heat. Others cannot stand living near a sea-coast where molds tend to grow. Really, if I were highly asthmatic or suffering from some form of bronchitis or emphysema I would not feel sure that a new state was good for me until I had spent a year there—because the climate and the pollens and dusts vary from month to month. What is good for one man can be very bad for the next. As a general proposition, a man with bad lungs ought to do better in the south, where he will be out of reach of those many storms which, starting in the Aleutians, enter, perhaps, Washington State, and then roar across the continent eastward until they go out to sea from the New England coast.

Many men wonder what should be done about a prostatitis, and they want to know if it is dangerous to life and health. I am sure it is not very dangerous, and in most cases, certain number of pus cells in the prostatic secretion cause no symptoms and hence call for no treatment. One physician who sees the patient may think there should be treatment while an able urologist may say, "Better leave it alone. It will not turn into anything."

Treatment consists usually of prostatic massages carried out with the physician's finger in the rectum. Many men with worrisome temperament will be too much concerned over a little prostatitis, and will make the mistake of blaming on it all their discomforts, perhaps all over their body. Sometimes, the longer the physician treats such a person with massages and injections of medicine, the more worried and unhappy the fellow gets.

A point many depressed persons do not realize, when perhaps they go into a nervous breakdown and have a few "electro-shock" treatments, is that, although none of their immediate ancestors may have had a serious depression, some of them were what the psychiatrists call cyclothymic—at times they were too active and merry, while at other times they were too slowed-up and moody.

Perhaps the best description of such a person I have ever read I just found in the autobiography of Isadora Duncan, the dancer. On page 184, she tells of a man—an artist named Gordon Craig—who for a while was much in love with her. As she says, "He was one of the few people I have ever met who was in a state of exaltation from morning to night." At such times, obviously, he was manic. "He always entered into a state of wild excitement over a tree or a bird or a child he had seen on his way. One never spent a dull moment with him. He was always either in the throes of highest delight, or the other extreme in those moods which suddenly followed after, when (for him) the whole sky seemed to turn back, and a sudden apprehension filled all the air. Then one's breath was slowly pumped from the body, and nothing was left anywhere but the blackness of anguish."

A person like Craig may never be suspected of being almost psychotic, but he is; and his peculiarity can be his small share of a tendency which may have caused his grandfather or an uncle or cousin to spend a few years in a mental hospital—in a deep depression. I am sure hundreds of people reading this will say, "Why, that's Uncle Jim, or Mother, or my brother Bill."

No Second Look at Bill 43 by Socreds

VANCOUVER (CP) — The annual convention of the British Columbia Social Credit League, which started out with a strong on-to-Ottawa theme, ended Saturday night with a strong provincial note that included rejection of a request for a second look at one of B.C.'s most controversial pieces of legislation.

Delegates for the most part shunted aside resolutions that went against the policy of the Social Credit government, re-elected Sept. 12, but in some the government and government institutions took some hard knocks.

The theme of a Social Credit resurgence in federal politics, after the disastrous defeat of the last federal election, was maintained when Premier Bennett started a fund rolling for an eventual byelection in Esquimalt-Saanich, made vacant by the appointment of former defence Minister George Pearkes as B.C. lieutenant-governor.

One resolution said that "Whereas the Social Credit movement has often been referred to as a 'second look' government; therefore be it resolved that this convention recommend to the government that Bill 43 be reviewed and clarified to all concerned."

CONTENTIOUS ISSUE

The bill, an amendment to the Trade Unions Act, has been the bitterest bone of contention in the labor movement since it was passed at the last session of the Legislature. Among other things, it forbids sympathy picket lines and makes unions legal entities that can be sued.

Except for the policies of Commercial Transport and Labor Minister Wicks' department, the government got off without too much criticism. "Delegates had a great deal to say about matters pertaining to the Workmen's Compensation Board and the road-user charges as pertaining to commercial vehicles."

The convention agreed the Public Utilities Commission "has completely absorbed government authority" and asked that the next session of the Legislature take action "to curtail the power" of the PUC.

The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway came in for a couple of knocks. Delegates demanded the restoration of dining rooms on trains and the elimination of an eight-cent rate that is added to the national freight rate scale.

The latter was said to work a hardship on the lumber industry.

Others of the more than 100 resolutions dealt with sales tax — a motion to abolish it was withdrawn — drunk drivers, compulsory auto insurance (rejected), exemptions of sales taxes, a school of dentistry at the University of B.C. (approved), firecrackers, road contracts, mortgages, hospital insurance — a national medical plan approved — and agriculture.

A move to control the sale of pocket novels and magazines dealing with a variety of subjects unfit for young persons was made.

Almost 350 delegates agreed an ever-increasing problem of lawlessness and crime among teen-agers has become the "number one worry of parents and teachers alike."

"The minds of our children are fed with the portrayal of brutal killings, shootings and with stories dealing with infidelity in marriage, illegitimate children, dishonesty and the like."

Plan Those Garden Jobs Now

At this time of year it is a good plan to make a list of all the garden jobs which should have been done during the past month.

In the next two weeks it might be possible to accomplish half of them, which is not bad when it comes to gardening. Nobody ever really catches up with everything, so don't let them kid you they do. Half an hour here and there, however, will achieve wonders with a little planning.

Some fine plants of field-grown wallflowers are still available in town—really bushy clumps which will give a profusion of bloom in spring.

A small bed planted with these and then filled in with tulip bulbs in a complementary color would ensure a beauty spot where it is most needed.

ANNUALS FINISHED
Digging of gladiolus corms should not be delayed. Cut the tops down to about two inches for easier handling. Shake off as much soil as possible from the roots but do not try to clean them until later when they have dried in a warm room.

If separate colors have been grown, write the colors on large wooden labels and put one in each separate flat or box to avoid mistakes.

The last of the annual flowers will have done their duty. Little is gained by leaving them with a few blossoms until it is too late to plant anything in their place.

All the conifers (junipers, pines, false cypress) can be planted, and there is no better time for leaf-losing (deciduous) shrubs and trees.

Lily bulbs will be making their appearance in the stores any time. Plant them as soon as possible while they are fresh and firm. If they should be somewhat soft don't, as one lady told me she did, soak them for a few days to make them firm. Soaking and then planting into wet soil will be sure to rot them.

Take time to note the lovely little fragrant blossoms already on the spring flowering viburnums; the exquisite color of the late blooming autumn crocus, and the friendly, confidential little song of the brown thrashers — if you're lucky enough to have them making a home in your garden.

HUNTING TRIP MISS 'SAVED' CLARK GABLE

CLARK GABLE
... suffers heart attack.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie actor Clark Gable, struck by a heart attack that might have been much worse if he hadn't called off a hunting trip, was resting satisfactorily today.

Gable suffered the attack Sunday at his suburban Encino home and was rushed by ambulance to hospital. Doctors and his wife said the quick use of oxygen undoubtedly prevented more serious, or even fatal, damage to his heart.

"It's a miracle," said Mrs. Kay Gable, expectant mother and fifth wife of the 39-year-old king of the movies. "He had planned a weekend hunting trip at his duck club near Stockton. There are no phones there and it's miles from a doctor."

"Then Friday night he said: 'I think I'll spend the weekend home with you and the children.'"

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Missing Plane Hunted in North

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER — Three RCAF search planes and five civilian aircraft joined in northern British Columbia Sunday to search for a Piper Cub missing in the Stewart area, 140 miles north of Prince Rupert.

The search was called off at darkness and was to continue again today.

The civilian planes are based at Annette, Alaska, and were to search throughout the day — weather permitting. Poor weather conditions forced search planes back to base Saturday.

The missing plane, owned by Ominca Air Services of Burns Lake, was piloted by Richard Schrieber, 30, of Stewart. He was flying a payload of gasoline from Stewart to Unuk River, 40 miles north, when he disappeared.

A prospector in the area reported seeing the plane make two passes at a high glacier — then swing east, appearing to follow the American River in a northeasterly direction.

BORN IN FOG

VANCOUVER — A baby was born in the rear seat of a taxi in front of the wrong hospital Sunday after the driver got lost in the fog.

The driver was attempting to find Grace Hospital in the Little Mountain area of the city but arrived instead at Shaughnessy military hospital. Dr. A. F. Johnston delivered a baby girl then the taxi proceeded to Grace Hospital, a few blocks away, where mother and daughter were reported doing fine.

MURDER-SUICIDE

VANCOUVER — A woman and a man died in an east-end home Saturday in what police described as a murder and suicide.

The victims were Mrs. Margaret Foot, 43, and William Russell Wilkinson, 38, both of Vancouver.

Mrs. Foot's estranged husband lives in Calgary, police said.

Four shots were fired. Mrs. Wilkinson was shot in the chest, while Wilkinson was killed by a bullet in the head.

Mrs. Foot was upstairs in the two-storey house in which she lived with her sister when a man knocked at the door and asked to see her, police said.

Mrs. Foot's sister admitted the man and a few minutes later she heard a shot.

BOY DROWNED

CHILLIWACK — The RCMP here have identified Friday's drowning victim at nearby Cultus Lake as Norman Genart, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Genart. The body was discovered about one hour after the youngster was reported missing from his Cultus Lake home.

PRICE WAR

VANCOUVER — A price war has broken out between two drug stores in downtown Vancouver.

One store put up a window banner four days ago offering prescriptions at $1, plus the cost of drugs.

A store a block away, operated by a drug chain, countered with an offer Saturday of 50 cents, plus costs of drugs.

"We're losing money," said Erling Bjarnasen, vice-president and manager of the drug chain's retail division. "But we were forced into it to meet the local competition."

Bjarnasen said the prescription offer at the firm's one store would continue as long as the competition runs its offer.

RUNS FOR MAYOR

NEW WESTMINSTER — J. Lewis Sangster, the centre of several stormy city council sessions earlier this year, is the first person officially to enter the New Westminster mayoralty race in the December civic elections.

Mr. Sangster, who served as mayor of the Royal City during the 1949-50 term, resigned as an alderman last May after repeated clashes with Mayor Beth Wood.

Mrs. Wood has indicated she will seek re-election, while Fred "Toby" Jackson, another former mayor, is expected to be a third candidate.

Goalies Shine As Top Clubs Remain in Tie

One of the finest Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association matches in several seasons was played Sunday as Victoria Optimists and Heaneys attempted to break a Division One deadlock.

The clubs were tied for first place starting the game, and mainly due to spectacular effort by the rival goalkeepers — John Fraser, of Optimists, and Heaney's Bruce Pollard — they finished the fast-moving tussle in the same position.

Pollard and Fraser each came up with several fine saves as the clubs battled to a 1-1 draw. Fraser was beaten on a shot by Larry Johnston and Pollard yielded a goal to John Roston.

In Sunday's other Division I match, two goals by George Leadbetter gave Colwood Pharmacy a 2-2 tie with Britannia Legion. Don McCormack and Bob Moysie tallied for the Legion squad.

Weekend results follow:

DIVISION ONE

Heaneys 1-Larry Johnston 1.
Optimists 1-John Roston 1.

Colwood Pharmacy 2-George Leadbetter 2. Britannia Legion 2-Don McCormack 1. Bob Moysie 1.

DIVISION THREE

Equimatt Lions 3-Peter Harold 1. Doug Gregory 1. Danny Evans 1. Sall.

DIVISION FOUR
Wintour 3-Fred Jackson 1. Palle Poulsen 1. Greg Piersen 1. Sall Spring Island 6.

RICH INTERNATIONAL SCHEDULED FRIDAY

Bald Eagle Will Try Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The length back in second place 13 1/16-mile run for three-year-olds and Eastern Princess was old.

A photo showed Oulja Board was second by a nose over Counterrate. In Chicago, American Comet, leading practically all the way, scored a three-length victory in the $23,950 National Jockey maker riding his third of four Club Handicap.

With Jockey Willie Shoemaker riding his third of four Club Handicap winners, the only contest was for second place in this 13 1/16 mile race. Rose's Gem and Redbird were for second place in this 11 1/16-mile race.

Bald Eagle won the race last year and is back as one of the two American representatives. The offer is Sword Dancer, 1959 "horse of the year."

Italy will be represented by Rio Martin and Santa Severa, a three-year-old filly. Russia's hopes will be carried by Zabeg and Zadorny and France's by Puisseant Chef and Houtain.

The richest of last Saturday's stakes was won by Alfred Vanderbilt's steel grey Good Move, which captured the $61,470 Selma Stakes for two-year-old fillies at Laurel.

How Times Alter!

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—It couldn't have happened during the diamond reign of commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, but cherubic Bill Macdonald of Miami is hoping that a horse will get him even for his baseball losses.

Judge Landis saved baseball after the 1919 Black Sox scandal by placing it under such rigid supervision that public faith was restored. Never would he permit his minions an association with anything remotely connected with the "evils" of wagering.

But times have changed. John W. Galbreath, president of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, has large racing interests. Several of his chargers are nominated for the Pimlico Futurity and the Marguerite Stakes.

Mrs. Charles S. Payson, principal stockholder in the proposed new National League club in New York, is another noted horse owner. Baseball aside, she is better known as co-owner of the Greentree Stable with her brother, John Hay Whitney, the U.S. Ambassador to England.

MARLINS LOSE BUNDLE

Macdonald, the pink-cheeked sportsman who promotes golf tournaments, is commodore of a yacht club and a director of Tropical Park, can be well pleased that the stern-faced judge no longer is at the baseball helm and that times, indeed, have altered as far as racing associations are concerned.

His Miami Marlins of the International League lost $250,000 last season.

His filly, Royal Native, has earned $222,945 in purses this year.

"She can get me even for the season," quips the ever-smiling Macdonald. "If she'll win the $25,000 Gallotree Stakes at Pimlico, on Dec. 3."

LOVES HIS HORSE

The expansive, dapper Macdonald is owner and president of the Marlins and his diamond losses haven't cured him of the baseball bug. He has, from time to time, made motions toward obtaining a major league franchise and says "don't count me out yet."

Macdonald has five horses in training for Pimlico's opening next Monday but the McIntosh of his optic is Royal Native.

"I'm in love with her," he grins. "Can you imagine a man being in love with a horse?"

Bill paid $252,500 for the filly last March because "I just had to have her."

HAD TO OWN HER

"Sure, it was a lot of coconuts," he nods, "but I took one look and I was a goner. I just had to own this filly. I didn't know whether she'd ever get me even but, my, ain't she purty?"

The filly has done much more than just look "purty." This year she has won the Columbian, Black Helen, Sunnyside, Royal Colonial, Top Flight, Molly Pitcher and Arlington Matron stakes.

If the filly can win the Gallotree it will be her eighth stakes triumph and probably clinch the 1960 crown as racing's top filly and mare. Even more, it will square up Bill's losses for the year.

As far as the initial investment is concerned, Bill shrugs it off. "The way I love that horse," he says, "I'd have paid more for her than that."

Import Paces Soccer Kings

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian champion Westminster Royals moved into first place in the Pacific Coast Soccer League Sunday by defeating third-place Vancouver Carlings 3-2 in a rugged game before some 1,800 fans.

Newly-signed English centre-forward Tony Crisp led the Westminster attack, scoring all three goals in the first half. Royals led 3-0 at halftime.

The victory put Royals one point ahead of the idle Columbus squad.

Carlings are two points behind Columbus in a third-place tie with St. Andrews, who downed Vancouver City 4-2 on Saturday.

TOPPLE MIGHTY HAWKEYES

Gophers Climb to Top of Grid Ladder

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago Minnesota's Gophers had coach Murray Warmath hanging in effigy.

Now they've hung up Iowa's previously perfect Hawkeys by their thumbs and have the lead in major U.S. college football.

The Gophers, trampled to the bottom with a 1-6 record last season, climaxed their

HANDY HANDLE

One way of stopping an opponent is demonstrated by Philadelphia half-back Max Baughan, who finds convenient handle on face protector of Buddy Dial and spins Pittsburgh Steelers end to ground in National Football League game Sunday in Philadelphia. Eagles apparently had right answers for most Steelers tactics and chalked up 34-7 triumph.

It Was a Smooth Ride For Oak Bay, Raiders

There's no doubt Oak Bay Police are going all out in an effort to keep the B.C. juvenile football championship in the Victoria area.

But it's also possible the young policemen have a soft spot in their hearts for the Oak Bay coaching staff.

The Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League's defending champions were told that the winner of Sunday's game against Victoria Vampires would be able to assure its coaching staff of a job in the Western Canadian final Nov. 23.

These same coaches would select the all-star team to play

Winnipeg Rams in the "Little Grey Cup."

After digesting this information, the Policemen went out to Carnarvon Park Sunday afternoon and trimmed their hapless cross-town foes, 52-0.

"The line was the big thing," said coaches Jack Bryan and Ralph Sinden after the game, "and we used Heath mostly on defence too."

It seems that Vampire backers felt Oak Bay was little or nothing without the starry half-back Jack Heath, but they couldn't have proved it Sunday.

Heath, the league's scoring kingpin, played on defence throughout the first half and on offence only sparingly in the second frame.

But it couldn't have mattered less.

Jackie Collins opened the scoring with an unconverted touchdown to make it 6-0 in the first quarter.

Brian Grey, Ken Davis and Harold Sutton all went over the line in the second and Murray Pastuck converted three of the four majors to make it 27-0 at intermission.

LINE SHINES

Any thoughts of a comeback by Vampires as the teams went at it again were quickly laid to rest by the bruising line play of Oak Bay. Unconverted majors by Graham Harvey and Brian Grey made it 39-0 when the squads switched ends for the final quarter.

John Ward and Heath went over in the fourth quarter and Pastuck booted another convert before the final gun.

Police now meet Campbell River Raiders in the Island final as a result of Raiders 39-6 victory over Nanaimo Redmen.

GAME PROTESTED

Nanaimo, however, has protested the game at Campbell River, claiming a Raider player was ineligible to play Sunday.

The player is fullback Depford, who scored three touchdowns. Depford was ejected from last week's final league encounter and Redmen feel he should have been suspended for at least one game.

If the protest is disallowed, the league's sudden-death final will open on schedule at Campbell River next week. Second game of the two-game series will be played in Victoria the following weekend.

Portland Squad Stalls Seattle's Trip to Top

Bucks Eke Out 4-2 Win; Cats Play Canucks Tuesday

Vancouver Canucks and Seattle Totems will be shooting for a share of top place in the Western Hockey League Tuesday night.

Canucks, apparently back on the beam after a three-game losing streak, and Totems, who missed one chance Sunday night, are two points behind the front-running Edmonton Flyers.

Canucks will stay within the friendly confines of Vancouver Forum for their first meeting of the season with Victoria Cougars while Seattle hits the road for a game against the Stampede in Calgary.

NO GAMES TONIGHT

There are no games scheduled tonight.

Cougars play a second road game in as many nights when they journey to Spokane on Wednesday and then return to Victoria for another meeting against the U.S. club Friday night.

The fledgling Portland Buckaroos kept Seattle out of first place Sunday, defeating Totems 4-2 in Seattle. Vancouver snapped its brief skid by beating Spokane Comets 3-1 and Seattle edged Calgary 4-2 in Saturday's games.

Gordie Fashoway, a veteran of 622 WHL games, said in Victoria during the weekend he would quit Portland Buckaroos to become a car salesman in New Westminster. But the decision still had not been made today and Fashoway has his 623rd game and 381 goal under his belt.

ARNIE GETS ONE

Arnie Schmutz, Gordie Fashoway and Bernie Krake teamed with Fashoway for Portland's total while Frank Arnett and Gerry Leonard answered for Seattle.

Canucks were never behind in their game with Spokane Saturday. Frank Roggeveen opened in the first and the teams traded goals in the second. Orland Kurtenbach connected for Canucks and Bev Bell for the losers. Chick Balon put the game beyond reach in the third and Canucks played defensive hockey from then on to hold the edge.

Guyle Fielder was the star in the Seattle game, scoring once and rushing the length of the rink to set Tommy McVie up for another.

Rudy Filion and Marc Boileau rounded out the Seattle scoring, while Norm Johnson and Sid Finney scored for Stamps.

Rules Demand Clarification

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Sunday took strong exception to Canadian players going to United States teams without releases from Canadian clubs.

The CAHA and American Hockey Association in a meeting here agreed present arrangements need clarification in detail so that hockey operators in both countries would go through the proper procedures to obtain transfers.

The CAHA also approved a tour by Winnipeg Maroons of Czechoslovakia. The team will leave Dec. 19 to play eight games in the Iron Curtain country, plus one or two against Canadian armed service squads in Europe. The tour ends Jan. 8.

Cadets Stay on Top, Thump College Squad

The Nelson tradition has nothing to do with rugby but England's famous admiral might have invented the game to judge by the performance of HMCS Venture cadets.

Venture stayed at the top of the Victoria Rugby Union standings Saturday by doing what they have been doing most of the season—swamping the opposition.

The naval cadets ran roughshod over a weak Victoria College "B" team and emerged on the right end of a 35-8 score at Naden.

Rom Reimer scored three tries for Venture.

Oak Bay Reds hung onto a share of first place by trimming Victoria College "A"

17-3 at Windsor Park. Veteran Dick Ellis scored a try and a convert for Reds. Roy Ellis, Lin Patterson, Colin Creighton and Dennis Hoyle completed the Oak Bay scoring.

Royal Road kept at the heels of the leaders with a 27-11 win over Oak Bay Whites and are now only one point behind with five wins and two defeats.

A try, two penalty kicks and three converts were scored by Wayne Hutchinson. Other Royal Road tries came from Chuck Leshman, John Pirquet, Bob McLaren and Ivan Korpeiki.

APPRENTICES TIE

White scoring came from two penalty kicks and a convert from Don Burgess and a try by Bob Hutchison.

Naval Technical Apprentices showed vast improvement over early-season form and held James Bay to an 8-8 tie.

Tries by Pete Ash and Bill Myers and a convert by Charlie Weeks were responsible for JBAA's points. Apprentices tallied with a try by McNally Dawes, a convert by Dave Gordon and a penalty goal.

Oak Bay swept junior ranks Saturday when Reds downed Air Force Cadets 21-0 and Whites defeated the PPCL Cadets 16-6.

DETROIT Red Wings, with curly-haired Norm Ullman heading for what could be his best season, have moved into a four-way fight for the National Hockey League leadership.

Ullman, starting his sixth season in the NHL at 24, didn't get a goal as the Red Wings beat New York Rangers 5-2 at Detroit Sunday but he collected two assists.

They marked the 13th consecutive game in which Ullman grabbed at least one point, tying a club record set by Ted Lindsay during the 1956-57 season.

Don Simmons turned in his first shutout of the season as Boston blanked Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 in Sunday's only other game.

Saturday, big Frank Mahovlich scored four times to lead Toronto Maple Leafs to a 7-3 romp over New York and Dickie Moore got two third-period goals to give Montreal Canadiens a 4-4 tie with Chicago.

The four weekend games left Canadiens in first place with 17 points, one more than runner-up Chicago. Toronto and Detroit moved to within two points of Montreal.

Boston remains three points behind the Leafs.

Simmons was brilliant in Boston's victory over the Hawks, turning back 35 shots. Orval Tessier, Don McKenzie, Charlie Burns and Jerry Toppazzini got the goals for the Bruins.

WINLESS IN FIVE

The loss stretched Chicago's winless streak to five games—two ties and three defeats. Mahovlich's scoring spree raised his season-total to 11 goals in 14 games.

Mahovlich got his goals against former United States Olympic star Jack McCartan, who worked both weekend games for the Rangers. McCartan, replacing Lorne "Gump" Worsley, who suffered a sprained back Wednesday night, had little chance on any of Leafs' seven goals.

Bob Pulford, rookie Dave Keon and defenceman Allan Stanley also scored for the Leafs while Andy Hebenton, with two, and Camille Henry counted for Rangers.

POINT LEADER

High-scoring Navy forward, stylish Cliff Uhren, leads the Sailors against Independents in first half of Commercial Hockey League doubleheader at Memorial Arena tonight. Pattersons face Army in second game. Uhren is tied with Pattersons Orv Coulter for early lead in scoring derby. First game starts at 7.

CALGARY (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos will meet in the western football finals for the ninth time in the last 11 years.

First game of the best-of-three series will be played in Edmonton Saturday afternoon. The second game is scheduled for Winnipeg, Monday night, November 14, but steps are under way to postpone it until Wednesday night, November 16. The third game, if necessary, will be in Winnipeg, Saturday afternoon, November 19.

Eagle Key's Eskimos qualified for the Western Interprovincial Football Union final by eliminating Calgary Stampede in the semi-final.

42-POINT MARGIN

Eskimos walloped Stampede 40-21 before 20,000 fans in Calgary, Saturday afternoon. A 30-7 win for Eskimos in the first game in Edmonton, Wednesday night, gave them the two-game, total-point round by 70-28.

On Saturday the Edmonton touchdowns were scored by Jackie Parker, Jim Letcavits, Cowboy Woodruff, Jim Shipka and Jo-Bob Smith. Ed Thompson-Joe Coffey converted all five and booted a field goal and a single. Vic Chapman also kicked a single.

Calgary's three touchdowns were scored by George Tait, Bill Barber and Lovell Coleman. All were converted by Doug Brown.

ESKS ASK CHANGE

In Winnipeg Sunday night it was announced that Edmonton requested the second game of the finals be played Wednesday, Nov. 16, instead of Monday, Nov. 14.

President Gordon Lawton of the Winnipeg club said "we will be quite willing to co-operate if a number of obstacles are overcome."

He said one of the chief obstacles would be the change required in television coverage arrangements, likely to be discussed today by Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, Canadian football commissioner.

Bud Grant, who coached Winnipeg to Grey Cup championships in 1958 and 1959, watched the Edmonton-Calgary semi-final series and was highly impressed by Eskimos. "We'll have to play better than we have all season to beat the Eskimos the way they're playing right now," he said.

BRIGHT DOUBTFUL

Meanwhile, fullback Johnny Bright is a doubtful starter next Saturday. He hurt his shoulder and had X-rays taken. Bright, who has a record of bad shoulder injuries, said it was only a bad bruise and he thinks he'll play.

Fullback Normie Kwong suffered severely bruised ribs and missed the second. Kwong also is listed as a doubtful starter next Saturday.

Winnipeg and Edmonton met in the finals in 1950, 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955, 1957, 1958, 1959.

Edmonton won in 1952, 1954, 1955, 1956 and went on to take the Grey Cup in the last three years.

ONLY ELITE CAN EXPECT INVITATION

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A new golf tournament, with a $50,000 prize tag and a restricted entry, has been added to the 1961 program.

It's the American Gold Classic, scheduled next Aug. 24-27 at Firestone Country Club, where this year's PGA was staged.

The event, conceived as a climax to the championship season, will be an invitational affair restricted to about 100 professionals and not more than 20 amateurs.

EAGLES LEAD IN EAST

Van Brocklin Makes His Bid

By United Press International

Norm Van Brocklin of Philadelphia Eagles is challenging Johnny Unitas of Baltimore Colts as the National Football League's quarterback-of-the-year, and the battle could go all the way to the championship playoff.

Van Brocklin, who at 33 is having one of his greatest pro seasons, threw three touchdowns passes Sunday as the Eagles crushed Pittsburgh Steelers, 34-7, and took over sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division with a 5-1 record. In all, he completed 19 of 30 passes for a total of 295 yards.

Unitas also had the kind of a day that won him all-pro honors for the last two seasons. He tossed four touchdown passes in a 38-24 triumph over Green Bay Packers. Unitas connected on 20 of 29 for 324 yards as the Colts (5-2) moved back into the Western Division lead.

GIANTS IN RUNNING

Meanwhile, New York Giants remained in contention the hard way—largely by grinding out yardage on the wet field in Cleveland, where they upset the Browns, 17-13, before a crowd of 82,872. Victory moved the Giants (4-1-1) up to second place in the Eastern sector and dumped the Browns (4-2) to third.

In other games, St. Louis Cardinals trounced Washington Redskins, 44-7, as John Roach threw three TD passes to Sonny Randle; Los Angeles Rams sent Dallas Cowboys down to their seventh straight defeat, 38-13, and Detroit Lions surprised San Francisco 49ers, 24-0.

Houston Oilers pulled away from the field in the Eastern Division of the American Football League when George Blanda connected on four touchdown passes in a 45-23 victory over Denver Broncos.

Months passed, Mrs. Paul Phillips were in the same ward in the maternity home. Paul told them they had named their sons John. And both left for home on the same day.

"When people noticed there were no family characteristics, we decided to have a blood test," said Mrs. Phillips.

The test proved there had been a mix-up and the mothers exchanged the babies.

Said Mrs. Phillips: "There is something in a mother's natural instinct to tell her which is her own baby."

"We have been quite attached to the other John, but it's nice to have my own John back again."

Inquest Ordered Into Ferguson Death

CHELTEMHAM, England (Reuters) — An inquest has been ordered into the death of British tractor millionaire Harry Ferguson, who died 13 days ago after a brief illness.

The deputy coroner for North Gloucestershire, D. Lane, ordered the inquest after a postmortem examination last week. It will be held Tuesday, Ferguson, 75, was the inventor of the Ferguson system of mechanized agriculture. His widow, Mrs. Mary Adelaide Ferguson, has since his death taken over the chairmanship of his company.

Vancouver Violinist Plays With Gusto, Full Assurance

BY AUDREY JOHNSON

Occasionally one is brought to wonder where, in the case of a performing artist, lies the difference between world celebrity, status and that of an artist whose distinction is more limited in scope.

In rare instances there is no discernable reason.

For Esther Glazer, this weekend's symphony guest artist, there appears to be only one explanation — that she intentionally has not sought the world-wide stage and its inevitable long absences abroad, away from husband (Vancouver Symphony conductor Irwin Hoffman and four children).

At least, her performance of the Paganini Concerto No. 1 with Clifford Evens and the Victoria Symphony Orchestra on Sunday, presented her as a violin virtuoso of first magnitude.

WITH GUSTO

A show piece for violinists, it encompasses all the prodigious technical feats that Paganini himself delighted in: Miss Glazer attacked these with gusto and complete assurance and brought everything off with vivid style.

Her powerful, and pliant bowing arm and agile left hand achieved full, masculine tone, whole passages of airy harmonies, shining double and triple note passages and beautifully wrought cadenzas.

But there were many indications also that here was a fine and intelligent artist, apart from the virtuoso, who could enchant one with a warmly poetic phrase or the thoughtful, somewhat contemplative mood of the slow movement.

ADMIRABLE

The long orchestral introduction to the concerto and subsequent partnership between soloist and ensemble, came off admirably under Mr. Evens' leadership.

Among the new works being played for the first time at these subscription concerts, Mr. Evens provided a hearing of the Intermezzo from 'Dellius' opera, "Fenimore and Gerda," which turned out to be a hauntingly atmospheric composition, reminiscent of French impressionism.

It was performed and interpreted with skill and much ethereal tonal color, showing a sensitive appreciation of its day-dream mood.

Of the three other numbers on the program, the Tschai-kowsky Fifth Symphony placed the greatest demands on conductor and orchestra, and on the whole, came off satisfactorily. Some moments were quite thrilling, with well planned and executed climaxes and episodes of moving poignancy.

DISCONNECTED

During the first movement there seemed occasional danger that the structure would fall apart, the slightly disconnected effect due to some lack of smoothness in bridging the various episodes.

If you're saving for your family's future

... make sure you own enough life insurance now!

How much is enough? It depends upon your family's size, needs, plans. Your New York Life Agent can help you figure the proper amount!

Whatever your savings plan may be and in spite of any concern you may have about the future effects of inflation — don't overlook the importance of giving your family adequate life insurance protection right now. Basic financial security is vital to every family and nothing provides it as surely and quickly as life insurance. It creates an immediate estate your family can count on.

Just make sure you have enough. The amount of family protection you need depends on your standard of living, the number and ages of your children and other factors. Why not consult a New York Life Agent. He can help you plan a programme based on modern policies you can afford. The Assured Accumulator policy, for instance, "banks" $10,000 for your retirement and, until then, protects your family with that much life insurance ... at a cost of cents a day, depending on your age.

Getting Gov't Job Difficult for Socred

VANCOUVER (CP) — The guy that has the toughest time getting a government job is a member of the B.C. Social Credit League, says a league official.

Lou Smith, president of Vancouver Centre Constituency Association and chairman of the resolutions committee of the league's annual convention that wound up here Saturday, was interviewed on the case of missing Resolution 13.

Resolution 13 was torn from a list of more than 100 resolutions handed to delegates at the convention but fell into the hands of the press.

Signed by Vancouver Centre, it called on the government to give preference to Social Crediters in government jobs, providing they have the qualifications.

What the man who submitted the resolution really meant, said Mr. Smith, is that Social Crediters be given an equal chance with others for government jobs.

The poorly-worded resolution got through the constituency executive and the resolutions committee, because of the crush of the recent election.

As worded it denied the very principles for which Social Credit stands for, said Mr. Smith.

Gaitskell Backs Polaris Missile

MANCHESTER, England (CP) — Hugh Gaitskell described the Polaris missile Saturday as the West's safest and most effective nuclear deterrent. He thus replied to critics within his own Labor party who want U.S. submarines armed with the missiles barred from Britain.

The Labor Party chief told a party rally that Polaris submarines, operating under the surface for thousands of miles, could not be zeroed-in by an enemy.

Gaitskell made it clear that he supports in a general way the decision by Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative government to provide depot facilities for Polaris submarines in Scotland's Holy Loch near Glasgow.

Gaitskell, however, insisted on a "precise" agreement over control of the Polaris.

He said there were two main points to consider:

1. In the event of war, the West must never be the first to use the H-bomb.
2. The decision to use any

HEAR THIS!

Today's Question:

It has been recommended that my father be fitted with eyeglass hearing aids in both ears. Are two aids really an advantage or is this just a gimmick to sell more hearing aids?

Answer:

It has been the experience in the fitting of many thousands of instruments that binaural (two ear) fitting gives a marked improvement in understanding for the majority of the cases so fitted. For many widely different reasons some cases should not be sold double sets and this can easily be determined by thorough testing. The real proof of the benefit will be obvious when the instruments are test-worn at home.

Many nerve loss cases have been able to master the use of hearing aids when fitted binaurally even after repeated failure with single ear fittings. This comes about because the aids can be set at a much lower volume and still give clear understanding. This one factor alone greatly reduces unwanted sounds and makes it easier for the patient to adjust to the instruments.

In cases where tests indicate benefit from binaural fitting the results measured in better, easier hearing more than compensate for the extra expense.

Britain Backs U.S. Survey In Bahamas

LONDON (UPI) — The United States has requested and received British permission to survey the waters in the Bahamas area for a possible U.S. naval undersea weapons testing centre there, it was disclosed officially today.

A foreign office spokesman said an approach was received by the British government from the U.S. some time ago requesting permission to survey "certain waters in the Bahamas area."

"Permission was given for this survey without any advance commitment by Her Majesty's government," the spokesman said.

Authoritative sources stated the projected U.S. survey aims at the possible establishment of a naval undersea testing and evaluation centre for American weapons.

Chemicals Kill Baby

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — A 19-month-old boy died at St. Peter's Hospital Friday after he had swallowed a mixture made by his brother with a child's chemistry set, police said. The boy, Thomas Deten, was taken to hospital after he drank a bowlful of a solution that his brother Charles, 10, was preparing for use as invisible ink, police said.

How to modernize your communications to fit your business picture

Good business is a picture of many things. It is a steadily rising sales curve. An attractive, well-designed office. A capable staff. It is good communications.

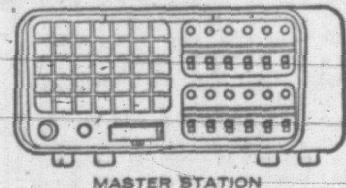

A study of inter-office communications often shows where efficiency bogs down. Orders held up when someone can't be found. Important calls missed when you're away from your desk. Reefs of memos instead of talking to another department. A Loudspeaker Inter-communication System may be the answer. This gadget is a whiz at finding people! You just press a button on your desk set to speak to other offices.

The intercom is a compact unit. Its award-winning design is colourful, up-to-date. Quite in keeping with modern furniture and modern art. It's just good business to put this smart time-saver on your payroll. And you'll be surprised how little it takes from the kitty to rent it!

The intercom is one of many B.C. Telephone Company business facilities. Others are the telephone, Teletype and key phone. They're all rented. No digging down deep for upkeep or depreciation. Maintenance is our job.

Why not let our representative study your present communications system? He'll assess your needs, recommend the most efficient and economical equipment for your business. He'll be seeing you soon... sooner if you make an appointment through our new Marketing and Sales Department now.

Want to know more about our Intercom System? Have your secretary phone us. In Vancouver it's MU 3-5511. Outside Vancouver, ask your operator for Zenith 7000. (No charge for the call.) We'll send a Loudspeaker Inter-communication System brochure posthaste.

Last Indian Boss Hangs Them Up

From Duncan Bureau
CHEMAINUS — After 50 years "on the beach" Moses Johnnie has hung up his boots, apron and gloves.

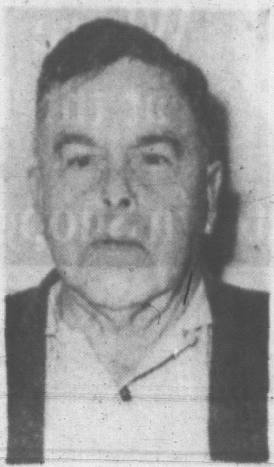

Last of the Indian bosses, Mr. Johnnie has retired at the age of 72 after working as a longshoreman on the British Columbia waterfront since 1910.

The veteran stevedore has witnessed a good many changes in longshoring during the half-century and worked on every kind of vessel from sail to steam.

FIRST TASTE
A pure-blood Indian, born on Kuper Island, he got his first taste of longshoring as a tall, strong youth of 22, working in Vancouver at the old Hastings sawmill.

In 1913 he was hired by the Empire Stevedoring Co. in Chemainus, and has been with them ever since, the last 33 years as foreman.

Longshoring in the days of a sail was a lot tougher than it

MOSES JOHNNIE
...ends an era

Lumber in those days was big and rough compared to the smaller dressed sawmill products of today.

HARD WORK
It was not uncommon to see three sailing ships in Chemainus harbor all being loaded at the same time.

"They were loaded from the stern end in those days," Mr. Johnnie said. "There were no lumber carriers, no steam donkeys or slings and you had to push and pull the lumber along the wharf, up into the stern of the ship and along the full length of the hold."

Sometimes it took as long as six weeks to load a ship. Today, with modern equipment, longshoremen can load freighters in a day or less.

When he first started he received 30c an hour and worked a 10 to 12-hour day. At the time of his retirement ships had little equipment and last month, he was making much of the loading was done $3.70 an hour and working a 140-hour week.

His retirement ends an era. He was the last of the Indian foremen.

"There are still a few Indians longshoring," he says, "but not as many as there used to be."

A sports enthusiast, the Westholme resident will spend most of his spare time following the fortunes of Victoria Cougars hockey club and attending as much soccer, basketball and lacrosse games as he can.

And he'll still have at least two close contacts with longshoring—his sons Wilbert and Joe, who both work for the Empire Stevedoring Co. at Chemainus.

YEGG LEAVES POLICEMAN FAR BEHIND

CHEMAINUS — A would-be safecracker failed to crack the post office safe here early Saturday and eluded police in a back-alley getaway from the break-in scene.

A night patrol RCMP constable spotted a man leaving the post office building and pursued him up a back alley and along the railway tracks before losing him.

Dial and handle were knocked off the safe but attempts to open it proved futile. Several drawers in the building were ransacked but no money or stamps taken. Entry was gained through a side window.

PORT ALBERNI — Dr. George Kenwood, director, field service branch Canadian Mental Health Association, will lecture on mental health in the Public Health Unit here Nov. 14 and 15 at 8 p.m.

More Local Authority In New Scouting Plan

(Duncan Bureau)
CHEMAINUS—First major policy change in scouting since 1945 is designed to place more authority and responsibility at the local level to improve service and administration.

These points were made here over the weekend by J. L. Dampier, vice-chairman of the B.C. Council, Boy Scout Association, in an address to the annual meeting of the Mount Brenton Scout District. Under the scheme, now being implemented in all provinces, regions are being set up, each with their own full-time executive commissioned and assistant. Effect will be to decentralize authority formerly held by provincial councils.

Reason for the new policy was the tremendous growth of the movement since the end of the war. In 1945 there were 8,900 boy scouts in B.C. Today there are 36,000.

Basic effect of the regional program will be that decisions

COWICHAN TO HONOR WAR DEAD

DUNCAN—Communities in the Cowichan district will mark Remembrance Day with Cenotaph ceremonies.

At Duncan, parade to the Cenotaph will be under the command of Canadian Legion president Bob Evans and led by the pipe band under the direction of Jack Low.

Service will be conducted by Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh, assisted by other clergymen of the district.

The parade will fall in at the old Legion Building and proceed at 10:30 a.m. by way of Government Street to the Cenotaph.

Following the service, newly-completed facilities at the Legion Building on Trunk Road will be put into use for the first time.

At Lake Cowichan services also will mark the dedication of the community's new memorial Cenotaph completed last week by Branch 210 of the Legion.

NEW LOCATION
This will be the first outdoor service held at the lake to remember the dead of two world wars. Previous services have all been held in a community hall.

Rev. R. Horsfield will give the dedication prayer and J. H. Saywell will deliver the dedication speech. Service will start at 10:50 a.m.

The Salvation Army Band from Victoria will lead the parade to Chemainus Cenotaph. They will be followed by 75 cadets of the Canadian Scottish unit at Duncan. Community services will be held in the theatre prior to the Cenotaph service. Sounding of the mill whistle at 11 o'clock will signify start of service.

Minister Refuses Cash Aid For B.C.'s Herring Industry

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fisheries Minister MacLean said Sunday the federal government will continue to help B.C.'s herring industry to find new markets but will not give it any financial help.

He also said in an interview the federal government is not considering extension of the present three-mile limit to 12 miles without agreement from other countries.

The minister, here for the annual meeting of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission this week, said the industry will have to make its own adjustments to meet world competition.

REJECTED
Meanwhile, Homer Stevens, secretary of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) said Saturday Mr. MacLean rejected six proposals designed to restore the $6,700,000 industry that was closed 10 months ago because of South American competition.

A delegation from the union and the Native Brotherhood of B.C. met Mr. MacLean Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Stevens said the minister brought forward no program or policy of any kind to revive the herring industry.

Mr. MacLean was quoted by Mr. Stevens as saying that the government has considered the problem and is not prepared to grant a subsidy in any way, shape or form.

"The government has absolutely failed to consider the needs of fishermen and allied workers," said Mr. Stevens. "This is an unfortunate and unwise step."

Youth in Coma After Crackup

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two 18-year-olds are in hospital here following a highway crash Saturday near here that sheared off three telephone poles.

Bobby Grant of Campbell River had not regained consciousness after suffering a fractured skull, jaw and pelvis. His condition is "critical."

Barry Johnson, Quadra Island, sustained a fractured spine but hospital authorities today said his condition is "satisfactory."

PORT ALBERNI—Chess championship of Vancouver Island will be decided here Friday and Saturday.

A. Siluk, Nanaimo, president of the B.C. Chess Federation, will officially open the tournament.

First rounds in the competition will start at noon.

COMOX—Group Captain R. F. Miller, Commanding Officer RCAF Station Comox, today announced Dec. 3 as official opening date of the station's new $520,000 combined mess building.

The building will provide separate dining and social facilities for senior non-commissioned officers and airmen below the rank of corporal.

Corporals will share eating facilities with the airmen but will occupy the canteen and social building now used by the senior NCOs.

SIDNEY—Funeral was held at 11 a.m. today in Sands Funeral Home for Mrs. Grace C. Coleman, 80, long-time resident of Sidney who was the wife of Dr. H. T. J. Coleman, former UBC dean of arts and professor of philosophy.

Active in church and educational circles, Mrs. Coleman was one of the founders of the parent-teacher movement in Ontario and was active in women's work at Sidney United Church. She was the first president of the faculty women's club of UBC.

Survivors include the widower, a daughter Alice, and a son, Dr. John U. Coleman of Duncan.

CHEMAINUS — John Frisch of Crofton has been elected chairman of Mt. Brenton Boy Scout District.

The district takes in the area from Crofton in the south to Yellow Point in the north.

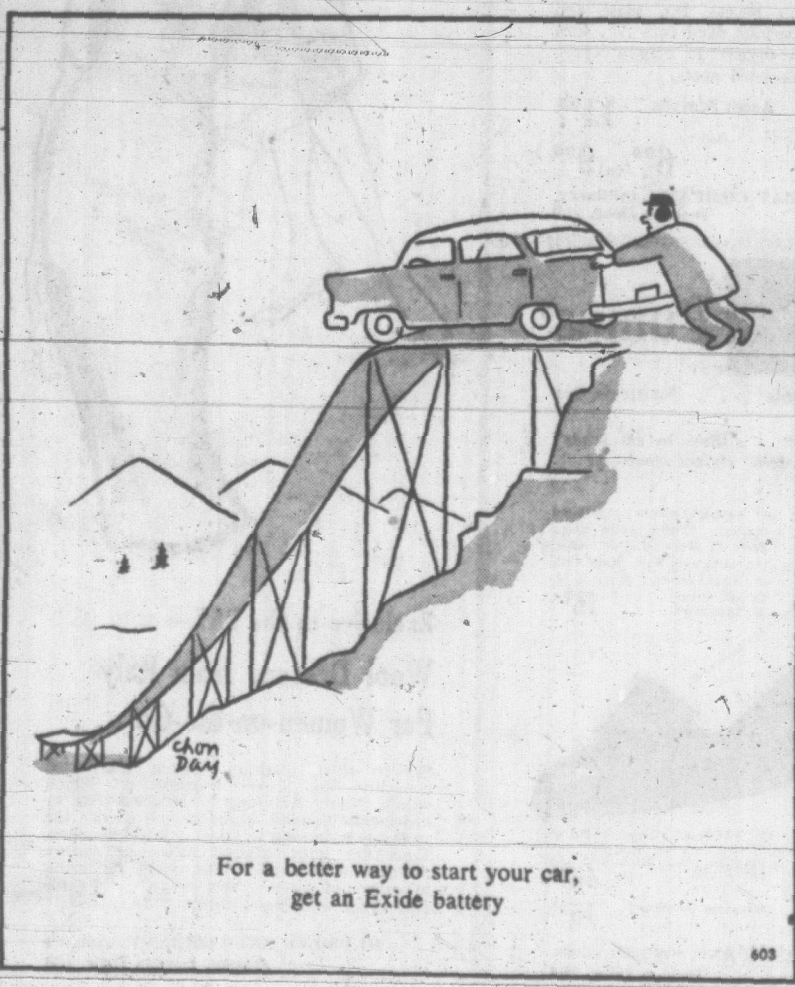

Bill Syme, also of Crofton, was elected vice-chairman. Other officers are: Treasurer, H. Wallace, Ladysmith; secretary, M. G. Low, Chemainus; directors, Dave King, Jack Jameson, Eric Guest and Clarence Francoeur, all of Chemainus.

ADMIRAL. RAEDER
... terror of Atlantic

Hitler's Great Naval Chief Succumbs at 84

KIEL, Germany (AP) — Erich Raeder, the grand admiral who built Hitler's navy into the terror of the North Atlantic, died Sunday in this old port city where he was in hospital as a mental patient. He was 84.

Raeder, released from war crimes prison in 1955 because of poor health, fell mentally ill last year after the death of his wife, Erika. A court ordered him placed under the legal guardianship of former admiral Werner Fuchs.

'SIMPLY FADED AWAY'

Fuchs said today Raeder had been partially paralyzed and was unable to read, write or speak during his last months. "The grand admiral simply faded away," Fuchs told a reporter.

The stiff, Prussian admiral headed Germany's navy for 15 years. During that time he led the development of the pocket battleship and the U-boat submarine fleet that took such a heavy toll of Allied convoys during the war.

Raeder fell from favor in 1943, when the submarine campaign was going badly.

QUARRELED WITH HITLER

He quarreled with Hitler about the invasion of Russia, pressing instead for an invasion of Britain while Germany still held mastery on the continent. He was replaced by Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and given the powerless post of "admiral-inspector."

After the war Raeder was convicted by the Nuernberg war-crimes trial of aggression and war crimes and sentenced

WILD BATTLE WITH RCMP

Bandits Ambushed on Farm

EDMONTON (CP) — Three heavily-armed bandits and RCMP detectives exchanged gunfire and battled hand-to-hand in a farm home 35 miles west of Edmonton Saturday night but the only injuries suffered were superficial wounds to the gunmen.

During the rapid exchange of shots, one of the gunmen fired point-blank at RCMP detective Allan Cedar. The policeman's life was saved by a bullet-proof vest. The impact knocked the policeman to the floor.

The battle followed a police "stake-out" at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lutz, pioneer farmers of the Stony Plain district. Police said the bandits were working on erroneous information that the farmer kept large quantities of cash at his house.

Police arrested three men at the scene and then raced into Edmonton and took three more men into custody.

All six were charged with attempted murder. The three arrested at the scene also were charged with attempted armed robbery. The three arrested in Edmonton also were charged with conspiracy to commit armed robbery.

Safecrackers Cut Through Heavy Steel to Grab Cash

Detectives Probe Three Burglaries

Professional cracksmen in one of three weekend burglaries cut through the heavy steel of a finance company safe in downtown Victoria, stealing an undisclosed amount of money.

The burglary of a second-storey office of Household Finance Corp., 1218 Douglas, took place behind windows overlooking one of the city's busiest bus stops in the centre of downtown traffic at Yates and Douglas.

Police were not certain whether the burglary happened Saturday, after Friday night late-closing, or on fog-shrouded Sunday night, but it was discovered when employees showed up for work today.

NOT MUCH

Manager Will Wilson said no large sum of money was kept in the safe.

A plate glass door was smashed to allow entry from a corridor.

They drew venetian blinds and draped a map of the city over a steel chair atop a desk to shield from passersby any reflection from an oxy-acetylene torch they used to cut the door from a floor safe.

Fragments of the door and metal ash were scattered about the floor with items of office furnishings and most of the office drawers were forced in a search for valuables.

A heavy electric drill, three large tanks of welding gas and a suitcase containing more bottled gas were left on the office floor.

STOLEN

Police believe the welding materials were those reported stolen in a burglary Thursday night of Rodgers Welding Shop, 1119 Wharf.

Juveniles were blamed for a break-in at the Odeon Theatre, 780 Yates, where an estimated $150 was stolen and considerable vandalism inflicted on pay telephone stations, candy counter and vending machine.

An attempt to open an office safe was made, and although the outer door was forced, the inner one held fast.

WRECKING BAR

A four-foot wrecking bar was used on the safe and when the outer door was pried away, wooden wedges were driven into the smaller door.

The money was taken from the phones, concession, cashier's strong box and a pay envelope.

At the concession stand in the main lobby, soft drinks were sprayed around in a deliberate attack on the furnishings.

A small amount of cash and a half-grain of morphine were stolen from an unlocked safe at the office of Dr. J. F. Higgins, 1721 Hillside, in the third burglary reported to city police. Nothing else appeared disturbed.

Yeggs Get Cash At Cowichan High School

DUNCAN—Safecrackers struck twice here over the weekend with 50 per cent success.

They broke into Andrews Service Station, Lake Cowichan Road opposite Queen Margaret's School and banged away at the safe without getting it open. Then they smashed a cash register but found it empty. Only thing taken was a heavy bar used in mounting and dismounting tires.

USED TORCH

An undisclosed amount of cash was taken from the safe at Cowichan High School by yeggs who cut through the safe door with a torch. They gained entrance to the school through a window and then took a series of doors off their hinges to get into the office.

At Ladysmith, thieves unbolted a coin machine from the wall of the Pink Elephant Laundry and made off with it. The machine contained about $50 in silver and was later recovered in the Chemainus area.

MERCURY MISSED

Tiny Planet Blacked Out By Cloud, Fog

No doubt the planet Mercury passed between the earth and the sun early today—but no one in Victoria was any the wiser.

Heavy clouds and fog spoiled the view.

"We saw nothing at all," said Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Saanich Mountain.

Mercury, the sun's tiniest planet, crosses the sun only about once in every seven years and would have been seen here at sunrise if the weather had been favorable.

It is about 93,000,000 miles from the earth.

"I have seen it three or four times in previous years," Dr. Petrie said, "and once I was able to photograph it."

BLACK DOT

"The planet appeared as a small perfectly round black dot on the sun's surface. I could not see it move but in the space of an hour its position changed considerably."

Resort Men Press For Longer Season

A major effort to prolong the tourist season will be requested by Victoria and Island members at the annual convention of the Auto Courts and Resorts Association of B.C. opening today at the Empress Hotel.

Victoria branch resolution deplores the concentration of the holiday period into a relatively brief span of weeks in July and August.

This results in crowded accommodation, dangerous highway travel and disappointment for tourists, the resolution states.

Help of all tourist organizations, industry, chambers of commerce and boards of trade will be sought.

Backers of the resolution feel the holiday season should run from early in June to the end of September.

This, they say, would result in a healthier tourist industry and better circulation of tourist dollars.

More than 250 delegates are expected to attend the convention from B.C. along with representatives of motel and tourist organizations from Washington, Oregon and Alberta.

Convention chairman Fred Martin of Victoria expects this to be the largest convention in the group's 15-year history.

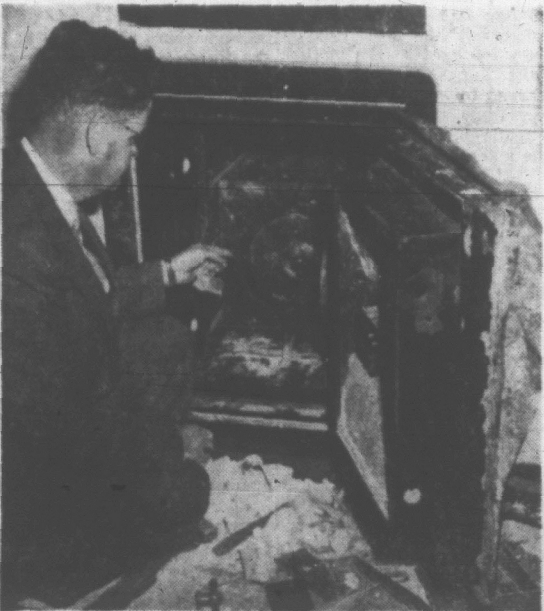

Another item of business will be B.C. participation in the Century-21 Exposition in Seattle which opens April 22 and runs for six months.

OVERFLOW

Vancouver Island delegates will explore the possibilities of arranging better transportation between Victoria and Seattle during the exposition so the Island can attract part of the large influx of exposition visitors.

Also on the program for the three-day meeting will be discussions on highway signs, promotion, insurance, price-cutting and other industry problems.

Representatives of each of B.C.'s political parties will take part in a discussion on "What the Travel Business in B.C. Means to Our Party."

$3,600 Damages To Cars

Traffic Crashes Spectacular

Four people were hurt in three weekend traffic crashes resulting in heavy damage to all cars.

Two cars were wrecked on power poles and one went over a 14-foot railway embankment, causing a total estimated $3,600 damage.

Barbara Wilkinson, Sidney, was taken to Rest Haven Hospital with a broken arm, and Thomas Dignan, Brentwood, was admitted at the same hospital with face cuts after their car, driven by Dignan, missed a turn at Wallace Drive and East Saanich at 3:20 a.m. Sunday.

POLE SPLIT

Central Saanich police said the car had $2,000 damage and the pole was split by the impact.

A car driven by David Williams, 971 Nicholson, sustained $1,000 damage when it struck a pole at Torquay and Barrie after missing a turn and going through some bushes.

Passenger James McClaskey of Portland, Ore., was treated at Jubilee for face cuts and discharged.

Ralph Schlegel, 625 Dunedin, refused hospital attention after his car swerved onto railway tracks across Dupplin a block west of Douglas, then went over a bank.

He told Saanich police he turned off Dupplin, thinking the tracks were another road, when an on-coming car traveling fast was nearly in head-on collision with his car.

The driver had a twisted ankle, cut nose and a bump on the head. His car had about $800 damage.

Funeral Tuesday For Veteran Coastal Skipper

Funeral for veteran coastal mariner Capt. Reginald Owen will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Sands Mortuary.

He died Saturday in Vancouver General Hospital, aged 57.

Born in Victoria of a pioneer family, his father was the late Capt. William Owen, a B.C. pilot for 30 years.

Following his father's career, Reginald Owen went to sea as a youth with the CPR and later served as first mate on coastal vessels running between B.C. and Washington State.

He was with Island Tug & Barge Co. until he left Victoria 12 years ago to work for Canadian Forest Products at Lake Nimpkish.

Survivors include the widow Mabel, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. P. J. Crow, Victoria, and Mrs. John Nordby, Vancouver.

Heavy Traffic As 1,000 Visit Speakers' Corner

Victoria's three-week-old Speakers' Corner in Beacon Hill Park is becoming almost too popular.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren said Sunday's crowd totalled more than 1,000 and cars jammed both sides of all park roads in the neighborhood.

"I'm watching the parking problem closely," he said. "If the crowds double or triple in the summertime, as they might, we'll have to do something about it."

The crowd turned out to hear the Hyde Park-type of oratory from Socialist Party of Canada members, W. A. Scott and two Esquimalt High students.

14-Year-Old In Fair Condition After Horse Accident

A 14-year-old girl was still unconscious but reported in "fair" condition today after falling or being thrown from a horse Sunday afternoon.

Judy Westwood, 2633 Cadboro Bay, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering head injuries. The mishap occurred about 2 p.m. on Locust Drive near Royal Oak Avenue.

Navy Explains Release Of 15 Men

Release of 15 civilian employees at HMC Dockyard Friday was made necessary because "there is not enough work available in their respective units to keep them efficiently employed," the RCN said in an official statement today.

The statement was issued following allegations of "favoritism" in layoffs, voiced by two of the discharged employees, Roy Morgan, 51, an electrician, and George Smith, 50, an ironworker.

The navy said decision on which employees are to be released is made in accordance with the department's point system, based on seniority, efficiency and veteran preference.

Mr. Morgan said he had been employed at Dockyard almost 10 years and that there are juniors being kept on.

"Other chaps came on after I did, and went on the permanent staff. Then the permanent men were shifted around and the casual men jet go. I was the longest casual worker in the yard in my particular category."

WAR VETERAN

Mr. Morgan said he had a wartime pensionable disability and he had never heard complaints concerning his competency.

The layoffs, at least in relation to his own work, "don't seem to reflect too well on stated navy policy to look after servicemen," he said.

His "favoritism" charge was echoed by Mr. Smith.

The navy said the employees concerned were informed in advance of their impending release, and possibility of re-employment in Dockyard "or in some other government department in the area is under constant review."

James McConachy, boiler-makers' business agent, said there were 100 members of the local now unemployed. Dockyard now employs about 65 local members.

A meeting will be held of all unemployed local members at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to discuss the Dockyard situation and unemployment generally.

Jack Driscoll, business agent for the electricians local, said it was possible a statement would be issued by the union's executive board which will meet Tuesday night. About 155 electricians are without jobs.

The navy said there were 20 men discharged from Dockyard last week.

MONTE ROBERTS

One of the bright young sailors who works for the RCN's national publication, Crownsnest, has taken belaying pen in hand to clear up the definition of a ship.

And this is by no means as simple a matter as Gertrude Stein would have had you believe had she written "a ship is a ship and all that."

Nor can it be dismissed with the schoolroom dictum: "A ship is not a ship when it is a float."

There is also the landlubbers' rule-of-thumb, to the effect that a boat carrying boats isn't a boat, it's a ship.

The dictionary is of very little help, offering a whole passel of definitions, ranging from "any large sea-going vessel" to "a racing eight-oar boat."

So it is a good thing indeed that our Crownsnest writer has, at last, uncovered an exact and detailed definition of a ship.

This he found in article 4.0 of the Department of Defence Production's "Master Vocabulary of Principal Ship and Cost Components," which is known to its constant readers by the short title "SHIPCAB."

So here's what a ship is: "A ship is, in brief, a self-contained body of inter-related members, components, spaces and areas and can, therefore, be defined as being a system of spatial relationships correlated to a common purpose and enclosed by physical boundaries of which the form and extent are determined by practical considerations of sea-going efficiency."

There you are, landlubbers. Now you know, and now you can wish success to those who go down to the sea in systems of spatial relationship, and you need never again call a ship a boat.

Oh, but there's one little point.

When our submarine gets here next year, don't go calling it a ship—spatial relationships or no spatial relationships.

Submarines are boats, and someday I must find out why.

Duncan Youth Killed In U.S. Crash

Robin Stone, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Stone, Gibbins Road, Duncan, was killed Sunday in a traffic crash west of Independence Hill, Ind.

His father is president of Hillcrest Lumber Co.

The youth was attending grade 10 at Ridley College, St. Catharines, Ont., and was on a mid-term holiday. He had completed grade nine at Cowichan High School, Duncan, last term.

According to reports he was in a car with a fellow-pupil, Stephen Fuller, 18, of Fonthill, who was critically injured.

Their car skidded on an icy viaduct and smashed into a truck parked beside the road. The semi-trailer truck, driven by Doyle Lee, 30, of rural Decatur, Ill., had just hit the icy spot, jackknifed and was marked by flames when the car hit it. Lee escaped injury.

Beside the parents, survivors include a brother, Michael, and a sister, Joy.

TUESDAY MEETINGS

These New Christmas Cards More Attractive Than Ever

By PENNY SAVER

Wise women are already planning what Christmas cards they will send to their friends this year. Ones that I saw in a downtown store this week are bound to find favor with those that choose their greeting cards with care.

There's a homespun quality about the background on one long oblong card that's centred with a cheery snow-swept scene that's edged with a border of fruit and holly. To me, though, it was the greeting inside that left the most impression. It read:

"God bless the walls that hold this house,
God bless the warmth within,
God bless the doors that open wide
to stranger and to kin,
God bless each shining window pane,
God bless the roof above
And keep all those who enter here, safe within His love."

Attractive cards sell at $2.50 for a box containing 25. Richness of color used in latest Christmas card designed by noted local artist, Emily Sartain, has already caught the attention of early shoppers and cards are selling quickly at $3.75 for a box of 25.

"Piquancy of tiny faces of five little cherubs that trim front of cards that sell at 25 for $1 will appeal to old and young alike.

Should you wish to have your cards personalized, this service is offered by store at reasonable price of three cents a card and takes only a few days.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Keep Those Muscles Busy; Work Fat Off With Exercise

For a few days now I am giving you exercises with which pupils in my figure molding classes lost inches from their figures. Yesterday I gave you one of the very best for waist reduction.

I think that a thick waist and rolls over the girdle are the most aging figure faults—unless it is a protruding abdomen. At least the latter is certainly next on the list. Fortunately these two figure faults respond happily to special exercises.

A protruding abdomen is due to lax muscles, an accumulation of fat over these muscles and poor posture. All play their part. Fat is not so apt to huddle over busy muscles and we can work it off and strengthen the abdominal muscles and improve posture, for a flat front.

Here are two of the best ones.

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise both legs and both arms at the same time and touch the toes with the fingertips if you can. If not, touch your ankles or legs with your fingertips. Whether or not you can do this depends on the strength of your muscles. Where your fingers touch depends partly on the length of your legs and your arms. Slowly lower your legs and arms to starting position.

It is important that you keep your knees stiff throughout this exercise, and also that you stretch out on the floor, making yourself as long as possible each time your arms and legs return to the floor.

If this is too difficult for you at first, raise only the right leg and right arm, touch and return, but take time for the stretch just the same. Later on you will be able to raise both legs and arms simultaneously.

2. Take the same starting position. Bend both your knees up close to your stomach. Straighten the legs toward the ceiling, toes pointing toward the ceiling. Keep the knees stiff as you slowly lower the legs to the floor. Stretch out. Continue.

Most figure faults can be corrected or greatly improved and practically all of them could be avoided.

DEAR ABBY

Fighting a Losing Battle

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For eleven years I have been married to a man who has had me running in a contest with his mother. No matter what I do, his mother could have done it better, faster and cheaper. It's true, his mother is a very able woman, but in my own way I do all right, too. If he eats something at her house that he likes, I try to make it for him at home, but it never comes out like hers. (Maybe I try too hard?) His mother knits things for him, so I learned to knit, but he never wears my things—only hers. I really like his mother, but she makes everything so difficult for me because she is such an expert. Am I childish for feeling hurt and how can I overcome it?

DEAR ABBY: Bill (not his real name) and I are very much in love, but we are not old enough to get married without our parents' consent. We thought if we had to get married they would sign for us, so we went ahead and followed that plan. Now it turns out that our parents refuse to sign for us. Bill is on probation and we were told the authorities would force him to marry me after getting me in this condition, but we discovered that wasn't true, either. Can you help us, Abby? I am 15 and Bill is 14. I want to keep my baby, but everybody is against it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading a lot lately about people who have "willed" their eyes to a blind person. I am over 21 and would like to do this. How do I go about it, please?

DEAR JAY: Get in touch with your local office of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. They will give you the information.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help us barbers. Why do women wait until Saturday to bring their kids in for haircuts? These women have all day. Why can't they bring them in after school? When working men come into the barber shop on Saturday, it is always full of kids.

Also, we barbers would rather have fathers bring in their kids than mothers. The women stand around the chair and tell the barber how to cut hair. I wish the days would come back when no respectable woman would be seen in a barber shop.

BARBER.

NIXON VS KENNEDY

Victoria Women Divided
On U.S. Election Results

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"If Kennedy is the next president of the United States, it will be the women who put him there," a Victorian who follows public affairs very closely says. "They see in him their favorite son and that may easily do it."

However, the women's department of the Times, taking its own private poll, has discovered this opinion is not held by every woman in this city.

Mrs. O. H. Lamont is "vitaly interested" in results of the United States election but says: "I'm a Nixon supporter! He's quite a statesman and I hope he'll win, although it looks as if this will be the closest election ever in the States."

Conceding that John Kennedy is a strong character, too, Mrs. Lamont gave her reasons for not wanting Kennedy at the presidential helm:

"Certainly, he's absolutely bouncing with energy, but he lacks the experience of Nixon. After all, in the world of today the American people can't afford to have less than the best they can get."

"Even in his (Kennedy's) home town of Boston, the thinking people don't want to see him elected as the new president. We get letters from friends in Boston that are full of concern about this."

"It's a shame that religion has to enter into the political campaign, but I'm afraid that it definitely will with certain people."

Mrs. Lamont had taken a few minutes off from convening a local church bazaar to voice her convictions.

Doesn't Like Parade of Families

In contrast, Mrs. D. Hunter feels certain that Kennedy will be the next "top man" in the United States.

"He's more flamboyant, more of a showman. I watched one of the TV debates and it seemed as if he gave his answers with far more assurance. Nixon couldn't come straight to the point."

"Mind you, at first I thought that Nixon would win, but now I'm sure that Kennedy has out-talked and out-sold him."

Mrs. Hunter's pet "beef"? Use of candidates' families in campaigns.

"I certainly don't enjoy seeing them paraded all the time. You're voting for the man—not his wife and children."

Miss Joy Spencer: "We can't avoid being interested in results of the United States elections—we're such close neighbors. From what I can see, most Canadian women know more about American politics than their own, because of the terrific coverage."

"I've been following the Popcorn Poll and I think Kennedy will win, although I haven't any really strong feelings about either candidate. They're both capable young men."

Bets to Back Her Conviction

Mrs. Evelyn McFadden puts her money on Kennedy. "I feel he'd be good. He has a good background, diplomatic and otherwise. I've got quite a bet on to back up my conviction!"

She, too, regrets that religion has been brought into the American election and is proud that "in this country religion makes no difference as far as politics are concerned."

Rev. Mrs. M. Leeman of Christian Spiritual Church says: "Being a minister I do not dabble in politics, but I hope the best man wins."

Mrs. R. Morris: "I feel the two candidates are too young to take on such an important office as the presidency of the United States. They are both immature."

Mrs. W. H. Harrison: "I think Kennedy appeals to the teen-agers and younger people. They are making him into a really romantic figure. But I don't favor either. It's really too hard for a Canadian to decide."

Mrs. L. Longden: "I would like to see Nixon go in. He is more mature and is more capable of making good decisions."

Where's Adlai Stevenson?

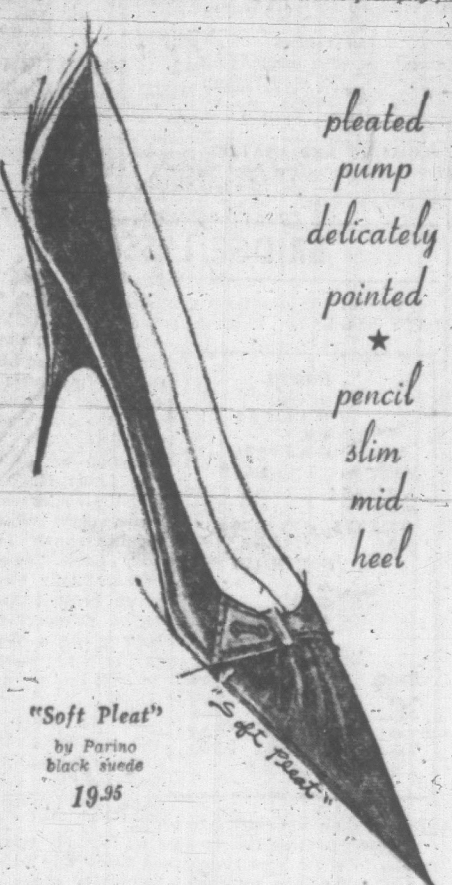

Alderman Mrs. Lily Wilson: "All I can say is I wish Adlai Stevenson was running. Also, I'm very sorry to see religion has come into the campaign."

Mrs. J. D. Calvert, who has "family in the States" and hears much from them, says: "I think Kennedy will get in, but I'm hoping it will be Nixon. Kennedy is charming, of course, and he does a lot of talking about what he will do. But he doesn't say HOW he will do it."

Maggie Barron (wife of Sid Barron, Times cartoonist) sums it up rather neatly. "It will be Kennedy because I understand the women's vote far outnumbers the men in the United States. Women don't think of the party, nor of the candidates' promises—they look at the man."

"Kennedy has the personality. He'll get in!"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women may out-vote men Tuesday for the first time in the history of U.S. presidential elections.

There are 36.1 million women of voting age, a 3.4 million margin for the distaff side over the 32.7 million men old enough to cast ballots, the census bureau reports.

But women usually turn out a smaller percentage of their eligible vote. One study estimated that 57.6 per cent of the eligible women voted in 1956, compared to 60.9 per cent of the eligible men.

Y-Teen Recognition Service
On Sunday in Baptist Church

More than 350 girls from five Victoria high schools and from high schools in Duncan and Port Alberni, gathered Sunday afternoon in First Baptist Church for the 26th annual recognition service of the Y-Teens Clubs of this city.

The ceremony recognized Y-Teens as members of the Young Women's Christian Association and also gave the girls opportunity to recognize their place in a fellowship of more than 15,000 Canadian Y-Teens.

Service and candle-lighting ceremony was planned and conducted by members of the Y-Teens with Miss Betty Cartwright, inter-club council ceremonial chairman, in charge. Y-Teen inter-club officers taking part in the service were:

Miss Joan Randall, Esquimalt; Miss Penny Ormond, Oak Bay; Miss Maureen Reid, Mount Douglas; Miss Mary Gibbons, Esquimalt; Miss Judi Bird, Cowichan High, Duncan; Miss Maureen Tilson, Victoria High; the ceremonial chairmen of each club, Miss Margaret Popma, Mount View; Miss

Karen Lendrum, Victoria in conjunction with Y-Teen groups around the world.

Later, the board of directors of the YWCA, the high school principals, club advisers and the executive of each club attended tea in the YWCA.

FOUR LOOKS

Rev. G. R. Easter gave the address on the theme, "The Four Looks—Backward, Forward, Around and Upward." Mrs. Donald Troutt gave a violin solo, and the Y-Teens' choir led the singing.

In the service Y-Teen members, dressed in white skirts and navy sweaters, the Y-Teen uniform, dedicated themselves to uphold Y-Teen ideals to be physically fit, mentally alert, socially alive and spiritually awake. Service was conducted

Views Differ On Economic Prospects

NEW YORK (AP) — Business sentiment in the United States saw-sawed last week under the weight of election campaign stresses and divergent views on the economic outlook.

The stock market apparently felt it had digested enough possibilities of the election's outcome and mounted a moderate rally.

It found encouragement in announcement of private and government spending plans but also took notice of some rather dim views of what is ahead.

General Motors chairman Frederic G. Donner disclosed plans to spend $1,250,000,000 in the U.S. and abroad for new plants, machinery, equipment and tooling in 1961. This would be $50,000,000 above the 1960 outlay. About $1,000,000,000 would be spent in the U.S.

Donner predicted passenger car sales would reach 7,000,000 in 1961. Sales this year are expected to run about 6,700,000.

CORPORATE EARNINGS UP
Corporate earnings for the first nine months of 1960 exceeded 1959 by about two per cent, and profits for the fourth quarter may come close to the 1959 period, a survey showed.

However, the third and fourth quarters last year were dulled by steel and copper strikes.

A survey of manufacturers showed they look for increased orders, billings and profits in the first half of 1961.

However, the First National City Bank of New York said it found economic trends have shifted from a lateral movement to a moderate downturn.

A majority of leading economists, responding to an inquiry from F. W. Dodge Corp., a construction and marketing statistical agency, said they foresee a mild recession between now and the end of 1961.

FEWER LOADINGS
A decline in freight loadings for rail and truck industries reflected a slowing business trend.

Steel output dropped to an estimated 51.7 per cent of capacity from last week's 54.2. Auto production tapered off for the first time since production started on 1961 models.

The treasury reported that the 1960 outflow of U.S. gold passed the $1,000,000,000 mark with a loss of $45,000,000 in the last week. That left the treasury with $18,417,000,000 in gold. However, the rush to buy gold on the London market subsided.

Training Delayed For Jobless

Accommodation problems have delayed start of a program of educational classes for the unemployed in Victoria, but first courses will begin in Vancouver in about two weeks.

The provincial education department's program is aimed at combatting unemployment through academic and vocational upgrading of adults.

Some 30 candidates in Vancouver have been referred to school board adult education officials for screening. They will take classes up to Grade 12 in Vancouver vocational institute.

The school board in Victoria was unable to spare any of its already-crowded space.

Education department officials have been touring hotels and other possible accommodation for rent, so far without success.

A special curriculum is being prepared for use once classes can be started.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson announced Oct. 14 that he hoped the program could be launched at the beginning of November.

Practical nursing classes will also be held in Victoria once space is obtained. The government is advertising for a director of this project.

Vocational classes will also be held in Victoria and at Nanaimo vocational institute.

Stelco Reports Drop in Sales

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — Decreased sales for the three months ended Sept. 30 and for the first nine months of the year are reported by V. M. Schull, president of Steel Company of Canada Ltd., in a quarterly report to shareholders.

Sales in the three months totalled $64,356,950 compared with $82,342,987 in the corresponding period last year; and, in the nine months, $220,786,175, compared with $236,632,651.

The secretary of state is the top-ranking cabinet officer in the U.S. government because the state department is the oldest of any branch.

SKYSCRAPERS SPREAD—A building and real estate boom in Australia projects the optimism and economic prosperity that has gripped the country's main centres. This is a waterfront view of Sydney, Australia's busiest port and largest city. In the background are several skyscrapers. An overhead expressway (foreground) cuts through the heart of Sydney and over new ferry wharves. (CP Photo.)

WEEK ON MARKETS

Oil Refiners Top Busy Industrials

By JOHN MCTON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Uncertainty in the U.S. presidential election failed to dampen the stock market last weekend and all sections moved higher in the wake of a buoyant Wall Street.

On index at Toronto, industrials were up 8.75 at 102.23. Golds were up 3.11 at 91.42.

Base metals were up 4.45 at 154.31 and western oils gained 2.32 at 82.59.

But the recent run on speculative issues came to a sudden end, as was suggested by the volume—less than 2,000,000 a day—and golds lost the favouritism that has been their hallmark in the past few weeks.

Prominent among industrials was the offer made to share holders of Chartered Trust, which caused the stock to jump $18.25 in one day. The stock had been a slow trader during the year, but turned over a fair quantity when it became known that an offer had been made to purchase outstanding capital at $85.35 a share.

Oil refiners were among the most active industrials, with Imperial and British-American scoring good gains, the latter running a higher crude capacity at its Calgary refinery.

Steelers ran into a weak spell. Montreal Locomotive touching a new low after its third-quarter earnings dropped to five cents a share.

Among utilities, Bell Telephone and CPR were strengthened by corporate news indicated earnings for Bell for the first nine months was $1.87 a share—slightly higher than for the same period last year—while CPR's revenue for September was higher than for the same month last year.

Papers scored a production record for the first nine months and a number of stocks responded favorably, while, among assorted favorites, Canada Malting scored sharp gains on news that the company intends redeeming its preferred stock and also declared the regular dividend of 50 cents plus an extra 50 cents.

Golds lacked the shine that brought them to prominence two weeks ago, but most senior producers managed modest gains.

Base metals were strong in most sections throughout the week, while western oils were at their best for a few months on hopes that Ottawa will produce a solution to the increased use of Canadian-produced crude oil.

Safecrackers Cut Through Heavy Steel to Grab Cash

Detectives Probe Three Burglaries

Professional cracksmen in one of three weekend burglaries cut through the heavy steel of a finance company safe in downtown Victoria, stealing an undisclosed amount of money.

The burglary of a second-storey office of Household Finance Corp., 1218 Douglas, took place behind windows overlooking one of the city's busiest bus stops in the centre of downtown traffic at Yates and Douglas.

Police were not certain whether the burglary happened Saturday, after Friday night late-closing, or on fog-shrouded Sunday night, but it was discovered when employees showed up for work today.

NOT MUCH

Manager Will Wilson said no large sum of money was kept in the safe.

A plate glass door was smashed to allow entry from a corridor.

They drew venetian blinds and draped a map of the city over a steel chair atop a desk to shield from passersby any reflection from an oxy-acetylene torch they used to cut the door from a floor safe.

Fragments of the door and metal ash were scattered about the floor with items of office furnishings and most of the office drawers were forced in a search for valuables.

A heavy electric drill, three large tanks of welding gas and a suitcase containing more bottled gas were left on the office floor.

At Ladysmith, thieves unbolted a coin machine from the wall of the Pink Elephant Laundry and made off with it. The machine contained about $50 in silver and was later recovered in the Chehalis area.

$3,600 Damages To Cars

Traffic Crashes Spectacular

Four people were hurt in three weekend traffic crashes resulting in heavy damage to all cars.

Two cars were wrecked on power poles and one went over a 14-foot railway embankment, causing a total estimated $3,600 damage.

Barbara Wilkinson, Sidney, was taken to Rest Haven Hospital with a broken arm, and Thomas Dignan, Brentwood, was admitted at the same hospital with face cuts after their car, driven by Dignan, missed a turn at Wallace Drive and East Saanich at 3.20 a.m. Sunday.

The youth was attending grade 10 at Ridley College, St. Catharines, Ont., and was on a mid-term holiday. He had completed grade nine at Cowichan High School, Duncan, last term.

According to reports he was in a car with a fellow pupil, Stephen Fuller, 18, of Fonthill, who was critically injured.

Their car skidded on an icy viaduct and smashed into a truck parked beside the road.

The semi-trailer truck, driven by Doyle Lee, 30, of rural Decatur, Ill., had just hit the icy spot, jackknifed and was marked by flames when the car hit it. Lee escaped injury.

Beside the parents, survivors include a brother, Michael, and a sister, Joy.

The driver had a twisted ankle, cut nose and a bump on the head. His car had about $600 damage.

Navy Explains Release Of 15 Men

Release of 15 civilian employees at HMC Dockyard Friday was made necessary because "there is not enough work available in their respective units to keep them efficiently employed," the RCN said in an official statement today.

The statement was issued following allegations of "favoritism" in layoffs, voiced by two of the discharged employees, Roy Morgan, 51, an electrician, and George Smith, 50, an ironworker.

The navy said decision on which employees are to be released is made in accordance with the department's point system, based on seniority, efficiency and veteran preference.

Mr. Morgan said he had been employed at Dockyard almost 10 years and that there are juniors being kept on.

"Other chaps came on after I did, and went on the permanent staff. Then the permanent men were shifted around and the casual men let go. I was the longest casual worker in the yard in my particular category."

Mr. Morgan said he had a wartime pensionable disability and he had never heard complaints concerning his competency.

The layoffs, at least in relation to his own work, "don't seem to reflect too well on stated navy policy to look after servicemen," he said.

His "favoritism" charge was echoed by Mr. Smith.

The navy said the employees concerned were informed in advance of their impending release, and possibility of re-employment in Dockyard "or in some other government department in the area is under constant review."

James McConachy, boiler-makers' business agent, said there were 100 members of the local now unemployed. Dockyard now employs about 65 local members.

A meeting will be held of all unemployed local members at 7.30 p.m. Tuesday to discuss the Dockyard situation and unemployment generally.

Jack Driscoll, business agent for the electricians local, said it was possible a statement would be issued by the union's executive board which would meet Tuesday night. About 155 electricians are without jobs.

The navy said there were 20 men discharged from Dockyard last week.

Resort Men Press For Longer Season

A major effort to prolong the tourist season will be requested by Victoria and Island members at the annual convention of the Auto Courts and Resorts Association of B.C. opening today at the Empress Hotel.

Victoria branch resolution deprecates the concentration of the holiday period into a relatively brief span of weeks in July and August.

This results in crowded accommodation, dangerous highway travel and disappointment for tourists, the resolution states.

Help of all tourist organizations, industry, chambers of commerce and boards of trade will be sought.

Backers of the resolution feel the holiday season should run from early in June to the end of September.

This, they say, would result in a healthier tourist industry and better circulation of tourist dollars.

More than 250 delegates are expected to attend the convention from B.C. along with representatives of motel and tourist organizations from Washington, Oregon and Alberta.

Convention chairman Fred Martin of Victoria expects this to be the largest convention in the group's 15-year history.

Another item of business will be B.C. participation in the Century 21 Exposition in Seattle which opens April 22 and runs for six months.

OVERFLOW
Vancouver Island delegates will explore the possibilities of arranging better transportation between Victoria and Seattle during the exposition so the Island can attract part of the large influx of exposition visitors.

Also on the program for the three-day meeting will be discussions on highway signs, promotion, insurance, price-cutting and other industry problems.

Representatives of each of B.C.'s political parties will take part in a discussion on "What the Travel Business in B.C. Means to Our Party."

MONTE ROBERTS

One of the bright young sailors who works for the RCN's national publication, Crownest, has taken belying pen in hand to clear up the definition of a ship.

And this is by no means as simple a matter as Gertrude Stein would have had you believe had she written "a ship is a ship and all that."

Nor can it be dismissed with the schoolroom dictum: "A ship is not a ship when it is a float."

There is also the landlubbers' rule of thumb, to the effect that a boat carrying boats isn't a boat, it's a ship. The dictionary is of very little help, offering a whole passel of definitions, ranging from "any large sea-going vessel" to "a racing eight-oar boat."

So it is a good thing indeed that our Crownest writer has, at last, uncovered an exact and detailed definition of a ship.

This he found in article 4.0 of the Department of Defence Production's "Master Vocabulary of Principal Ship and Cost Components," which is known to its constant readers by the short title "SHIPCAB."

So here's what a ship is: "A ship is, in brief, a self-contained body of inter-related members, components, spaces and areas and can, therefore, be defined as being a system of spatial relationships correlated to a common purpose and enclosed by physical boundaries of which the form and extent are determined by practical considerations of sea-going efficiency."

There you are, landlubbers. Now you know, and now you can wish success to those who go down to the sea in systems of spatial relationship, and you need never again call a ship a boat.

Oh, but there's one little point. When our submarine gets here next year, don't go calling it a ship—spatial relationships or no spatial relationships. Submarines are boats, and someday I must find out why.

Strike Staged
By Teachers
In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A massive teachers' strike today crippled New York's giant school system.

It was the first such walkout in the city's history.

Most of the 837 public schools managed to keep some sort of makeshift program going for students, but teaching staffs were decimated.

Placard-carrying teachers paced the sidewalks outside buildings as the city's 1,000,000 pupils converged on the schools.

Classes were reshuffled and doubled up. Clerks and supervisors were put into teaching harness. Calls went out for all substitutes available.

NUMEROUS DEMANDS

The striking United Federation of Teachers had demanded duty-free lunch periods for teachers, additional sick leave provisions, and salary adjustments for teachers with special training. The union does not have a contract with the school system.

The board of education had agreed in principle to two TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — Nick St. Angelo, a barber, has decided that it isn't fair for a man with a one-inch fringe of hair to pay the same price for a haircut as his long-haired fellows.

So St. Angelo has ranged the prices in his barber shop from $1 to $1.75—depending on the amount of hair he cuts.

A sign in his window reads: "Need a better haircut? Come in and get a written estimate."

"What difference does it make how much a man has," says one. "To a skilled barber, every head is a challenge."

FINAL U.S. SURVEYS
GIVE KENNEDY EDGENarrow Margin
Seen by Gallup

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On the eve of the U.S. election, professional pollsters and independent surveys today gave Democratic Senator John F. Kennedy an edge in his contest for the presidency over Republican Vice-President Richard Nixon.

But mindful of the debacle of 1948 when Harry Truman upset the advance predictions, all were wary of coming out with a flat forecast of victory.

The samplings and surveys went all the way from a slight margin in the popular vote, up to a landslide in the electoral college vote, but usually with reservations about last-minute swings.

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, said his final survey on those likely to vote, based on interviews up to last Friday, gave:

Kennedy-Johnson ticket 49 per cent of popular vote; Nixon-Lodge 48 per cent; undecided three per cent.

RECORD VOTE
PREDICTED
FOR TUESDAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A record-breaking 65 to 68 million Americans may vote in the presidential election Tuesday.

The Republican National Committee estimated the vote at 67 million, or in the range of 65 to 68 million. The Democratic National Committee predicted the total vote may exceed 69 million.

These estimates would mean a vote three to seven million above the previous record set in 1956 when 62,027,040 ballots were counted. President Eisenhower polled 35,591,003 votes, Adlai E. Stevenson, 26,031,322 and minor candidates 414,715.

Since 1956, Hawaii and Alaska have achieved statehood and become eligible to vote in presidential elections. Census bureau estimates show the number of persons of voting age has increased to almost 167 million, a rise of more than four million since 1956.

GOP Groups
To Pay Shot
For Telethon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-President Richard Nixon's four-hour television quiz marathon today will be paid for by five Republican committees, a Republican spokesman said today.

LIMIT SET

Under law the Republican national committee is limited to a $3,000,000 campaign expenditure for radio and television programs. Gulyay said. Both parties set up independent television committees, he said, because they expected to spend more than $7,000,000 each on such programs.

Estimates of the costs of today's television marathon, originating in Detroit, vary from the national committee's $239,000 to the American Broadcasting Company's $200,000.

Earlier Sen. John F. Kennedy's news secretary Pierre Salinger said the five-and-a-half hours of election eve television time purchased for Vice-President Richard M. Nixon was costing the Republicans more than $500,000.

He demanded to know where the money was coming from.

Candidates Wind Up
With Final TV Fling

By HAROLD MORRISON

NEW YORK (CP) — The toughest, costliest and most exhausting presidential fight in United States history draws to an end tonight.

Tuesday an estimated 65,000,000 or more voters make their choice between two travel-weary candidates determined to maintain their killing grind to the last minute.

In a whirlwind finish, Republican Richard Nixon concentrated on television. He made a record four-hour afternoon question-and-answer television appearance, to be followed by a 90-minute evening TV performance.

Democrat Senator John Kennedy went on the air to reply to his opponent's four-hour television program.

Kennedy appeared on the American Broadcasting Company's television network immediately following the close of Vice-President Nixon's broadcast from Detroit.

Kennedy's program originated in Manchester, N.H., and was a supplement to his major television address from Boston.

PLEDGES APLENTY

Both candidates tried to give their campaigns a lift with last-minute pledges. Kennedy proposed a big batch of federal scholarships for needy and worthy university students. Nixon outlined a plan whereby President Eisenhower would be joined by former presidents Truman and Hoover on a goodwill peace crusade through East European Iron Curtain countries.

Truman, 76, completing his campaign in support of Kennedy, said Nixon's plan is seven years too late. Truman said also he planned a lecture tour next year and wouldn't be available. Eisenhower is 70 and Republican Hoover, 86.

Both sides exuded confidence of victory. Nixon, campaigning in and around Los Angeles

Bomb Blast
Kills Girl,
Injures 18Subway Train
Booby Trapped

NEW YORK (AP) — A dynamite bomb exploded under a subway train deep under Harlem Sunday night, killing a young girl and injuring 18 other people.

Police did not confirm nor deny that it was the work of New York's "Sunday Bomber," who has been blamed for four other explosions since Oct. 2.

The bomb had been hidden under a straw-covered seat at the rear of the fifth car of a six-car express train. The train was halted at the 125th street station in the heart of Harlem-Manhattan's main Negro district when the bomb exploded.

The force of the blast bulged out the steel sides of the car, gouged a two-foot hole in the floor and shattered every window but one. Big chunks of concrete were ripped from the underside of the station platform.

About 30 passengers were aboard the fatal car. A girl sitting directly over the bomb was killed. Two youths sitting across the aisle from the girl were injured critically.

The girl was identified as Sandra Breland, 15, of Brooklyn. Her handbag was blown to bits.

Cordell Jones, 18, was just boarding the train when the bomb exploded. He was blown across the platform and onto another set of tracks. He suffered head, neck and back injuries.

"It looked like the seats blew into the room," he said. "Just as I was getting on, I turned around to look at two boys who were laughing about something. Except for that, I would have got it right in the face."

John Cohn, 39, the motorist, said: "I ran out on the platform. I saw the smoke and people running out of the train. The platform was crowded. There were several persons lying there moaning and bleeding."

Police searching the wreckage found a detonating cap, which they said confirmed that the explosive probably was dynamite.

A few hours before the Harlem explosion, a crude flare, concealed in a hollowed-out book, was ignited in a movie theatre off Times Square. But it was stomped out by a patron before it had a chance to explode.

Conciliation
Plan Rejected

PARIS (Reuters) — Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu today rejected the idea of a United Nations conciliation commission in the Congo as unwarranted interference in the internal affairs of his country.

The Congolese president spoke during a stopover at Paris airport where he arrived early today on his way to New York for a debate in the UN General Assembly on the Congo's tangled political situation.

Anyway, guess Canada'll win.

NOBODY WANTS BABY

Friends Reject 'Favor'

PETERBOROUGH, England. (UPI)—Ian and Margaret Anderson were very close friends with Peter Cartwright and wife, Linda.

The only thing they did not have in common was the fact that the Andersons had four children while the Cartwrights were childless.

Their friendship was so close that the Andersons decided to have a baby just to give as a "gift" to the Cartwrights.

Margaret, 30, became pregnant but much to her distress she found out their friends will not be able to care for the baby and do not want it now.

"My husband and I have been close friends for years with the Cartwrights," said Mrs. Anderson, "and we know Linda could never have a baby and we often thought of having one to give to her and her husband."

"We finally took this step properly. My wife has had believing the Cartwrights a heart complaint for years, would be happy about it and because this has gotten eager to have the baby worse recently she is almost through proper adoption channels."

But the Andersons did not tell their friends about their plan until they were sure the baby was on the way because they wanted it to be a big surprise.

"It was wonderful of Ian and Margaret to want to help us," said Cartwright, 32, "but it would not be fair to take another baby if we can't look after another baby."

The Cartwrights moved away from the neighborhood two years ago and this was the reason why the Andersons did not know Mrs. Cartwright's condition had worsened.

"Now I don't know what we're going to do," said Mrs. Anderson. "I'm out of work and we can't afford to have another baby."

The building will provide separate dining and social facilities for senior non-commissioned officers and airmen below the rank of corporal.

Corporals will share eating facilities with the airmen but will occupy the canteen and social building now used by the senior NCOs.

SIDNEY—Funeral was held at 11 a.m. today in Sands Funeral Home for Mrs. Grace C. Coleman, 80, long-time resident of Sidney who was the wife of Dr. H. T. J. Coleman, former UBC dean of arts and professor of philosophy.

Active in church and educational circles, Mrs. Coleman was one of the founders of the parent-teacher movement in Ontario and was active in women's work at Sidney United Church. She was the first president of the faculty women's club of UBC.

Survivors include the widower, a daughter Alice, and a son, Dr. John U. Coleman of Duncan.

More Local Authority In New Scouting Plan

(Duncan Bureau)

CHEMUNUS—First major policy change in scouting since 1945 is designed to place more authority and responsibility at the local level to improve service and administration.

These points were made here over the weekend by J. L. Dampier, vice-chairman of the B.C. Council, Boy Scout Association, in an address to the annual meeting of the Mount Brenton Scout District.

Under the scheme, now being implemented in all provinces, regions are being set up, each with their own full-time executive commissioned and assistant. Effect will be to de-centralize authority formerly held by provincial councils.

Reason for the new policy was the tremendous growth of the movement since the end of the war. In 1945 there were 8,900 boy scouts in B.C. Today there are 36,000.

Basic effect of the regional program will be that decisions will be made at the level closest to the boy.

"Virtually all decisions formerly made by provincial councils will now be carried out by the regions."

Three regions have already been set up in B.C., in Greater Vancouver, in the Kootenay-Boundary area and in Victoria.

It will cost more to operate under the regional plan, but he said the B.C. Provincial Council is prepared to subsidize new regions for the first year or two.

The president of the United States must be at least 35 years of age under the constitution.
